STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Princess Margaretha of Sweden is shown arriving in Stockholm where rumors were buzzing in court circles that her rocky romance with British jazz pianist Robin Douglas-Home will have a happy ending. First opposed by King Gustaf Adolf, the engagement of the Princess to the Briton has now been approved by the King, the reports said, and will be formally announced next month, when Douglas-Home visits Stockholm.

Will Attempt Contact Venus

Will Use High-Powered Radio Beams

By TERENCE CLEAVER

JODRELL BANK, England (Reuters) — Scientists this fall will attempt to contact Venus, closest plane to the earth, by bouncing radio beams off its surface.

The difficult experiment will begin as soon as a powerful new transmitter, being built at Manchester University, is fitted to the giant 250-foot-diameter radio telescope located here.

Director A. C. B. Lovell said Wednesday that it is about 10,000,000 times harder getting an answer from Venus than from the moon.

The distance involved is immense—it is only about 238,857 miles to the moon, or 2½ seconds return by radio wave. Venus never gets closer to earth than 25,750,000 miles and how long it will take a radio wave to get there and back—if it can—can only be guessed at.

The Jodrell Bank scientists want to track Venus in much the same way the shadowed the Russian Sputniks. They will make detailed measurements of the planet's relation to the sun, to the other planets and to fixed stars throughout its orbit.

TRACE STRANGE WHISPERS

Tracking venus is only the first project in a 20-year research program.

The telescope will be used to diagnose faint whispers from the fringes of space—the "music of the spheres" of the medieval astronomers.

There are "objects" in the universe, beyond the range of optical telescopes, that emit strange, intense radio waves. Even after years of painstaking study, only a few of the objects have been identified.

One of these strong—yet invisible—sources of radio waves is the crab benula, the gaseous remnants of a star that was seen to explode by Chinese astronomers more than 1,000 years ago.

One strong radio wave source recently was ascribed to a collision of two vast spiral galaxies containing billions of stars. But it was so long ago and far away that the light and radio waves have taken 100,000,000 years to reach earth.

Capture Rich Oil Centre

PADANG, Central Sumatra—AP—Jakarta paratroopers dropped around strategic Pakanbaru in the heart of Central Sumatra Wednesday and battled rebel forces for control of the rich oil lands run by the U.S.-owned Caltex Oil Company.

In Jakarta, the government said Wednesday night that its paratroopers and a combat regiment have captured the $125,000,000 oil centre. None of the foreign oil workers in the area was believed in danger.

Revolutionary headquarters here said about 300 Jakarta parachute troops landed at dawn at the Pakanbaru airport but were encircled by rebel troops and guerilla fighters. Rebel sources said both sides suffered "heavy" casualties but gave no figures.

Jakarta amphibious forces also hit at the east coast oil port of Dumai and started driving inland.

NAVAL ATTACK NEAR

A naval attack on Padang, the rebel nerve-centre on the Sumatran west coast, loomed for today.

The parachute attack was the biggest action yet by President Sukarno in his moves to crush the Central Sumatran rebels, who demand a new, anti-Communist government in the Indonesian capital at Jakarta.

Caltex officials said they have been assured by both sides that foreign lives and interests will not be endangered. Ships from the U.S. 7th Fleet are docked at nearby Singapore to evacuate Americans if it becomes necessary.

A rebel spokesman said the Sumatran forces will use guerrilla tactics.

"We won't damage oil installations," he said, "but we want to prevent Jakarta from benefitting from any oil money."

The rebels have begun bartering Central Sumatran oil and collecting royalties for themselves.

INTEND CRUSH REBELS

(In Jakarta, Capt. Agus Soeroto, chief of the air force information bureau, said "our combined air, sea and land operations are proceeding satisfactorily and producing results." He said they will continue until the objectives are taken.

("Our campaign will never be ended until we have crushed these rebels," he said. "There is no retreat and there will be no retreat until we have realized our mission.")

Two corvette-type vessels of Sukarno's navy steamed into Padang harbor and warned two freighters to leave by 10 a.m. today or face destruction. Rebel forces rejected the demand. The vessels and shore batteries exchanged fire and the vessels left.

Serious Strike At Harmon Base

The first strike of Union Workers at Harmon Air Force Base was orderly and well conducted, the project manager for J. A. Jones Construction Company said yesterday afternoon in a telephone conversation.

The strike was called for members of the four unions at Stephenville, and a twenty-four hour picket line was established near the entrance to Harmon Base.

On Tuesday evening members of the unions were stopping cars driven by military personnel to make sure that no member of their unions were breaking strike rules by entering the base.

There were hopes on Tuesday that an acceptance agreement would be reached by Tuesday evening but on Wednesday evening the 500 men were still out on strike.

The strike was called when certain men of the unions were dismissed, and at Tuesday evening's meeting the committee reported that they had reached agreement upon a date for the beginning of negotiations and the rehiring of certain persons who had been dismissed.

They also reported that no agreement could be reached at the meeting on Tuesday on the question of re-hiring the men who walked of fthe job on Monday. The company claimed that they no longer need as many workers as they were using at the beginning of the week.

The union was determined on Wednesday not to return to work until all the men were rehired and the men affected say that they are willing to return to part time work provided all the men are employed even if not on a full time basis.

The J. A. Jones Construction Company was given permission to bargain with the Unions on Tuesday, and a meeting was held on Wednesday afternoon after J. Wedge, union official from Toronto and members of the local unions met with Colonel Bell regarding the strike during the morning.

England's Hope

U. S. Recession About Over

LONDON (AP) — Western Europe believes it can avoid a recession if the United States economy gets back into high gear this spring.

For the first time in months hope flourished on this side of the Atlantic that the business downturn in the United States is almost over.

Recent timid price revivals on various stock exchanges reflected this mood.

If this hope is borne out the economies of Western Europe will have passed through a tricky financial winter with almost no damage.

COULD FEEL REACTION

Unemployment for the whole region now has climbed to an estimated 4,300,000. This represents only a tiny percentage of the total work force, however, and is lower than the latest reported U.S. unemployment total of 5,173,000.

Economists agree that an improvement in the American situation must come soon. Otherwise Europe will feel the full blast of depressing business influences.

Since the war, which left most European economies in shreds, American aid plus the closure of many traditional trade channels to the East has considerably heightened Europe's dependence on U.S. trade.

A survey by The Associated Press shows some levelling off of the widespread prosperity Western Europe has been enjoying for a decade.

But the situation varies from country to country and industry to industry. Some countries such as Britain are continuing to enforce tough credit-squeeze policies to combat inflation — the main economic worry during the prosperous post-war years.

SHIPPING SLACKER

The harbors of the maritime powers provide one of the few outward signs that business is tighter now than a year ago. Long lines of freighters and tankers are tied up.

In Britain 99 British ships and 42 foreign vessels are laid up. In Denmark 39 Danish ships swing idly at anchor.

Industrial investment continues high almost everywhere. Paradoxes show themselves in many placesm For example, British machine-tool makers are experiencing a decline in the demand for their products yet sales of British automobiles remain high with exports to the United States showing an upward curve.

South African Tribes Evicted

TZANEEN, Transvaal (Reuters) — Mamatholа tribesmen started moving from their ancestral lands Wednesday after holding out against a South African government eviction order for nine months.

Most of the tribe's 1,100 members had refused to leave their lands, which are about 120 miles northeast of Pretoria. They had lived in the area for 200 years.

Removal of the Mamatholas to a new area 4p miles away was ordered by Prime Minister Johannes Strijdom's Nationalist government on grounds that the tribe's primitive farming methods were eroding the land and destroying the surrounding watershed.

Twenty trucks loaded with families and their belongings left for the new farm location Wednesday. Complete resettlement is expected to take several weeks.

Last June, another truck convoy arrived to carry the Mamatholas to their new location but about 350 of the tribe's 400 families refused to budge.

When the tribe's 76 - year - old chief supported them he was deposed by the government. Chief Malisele Letsola claimed the land had been given to his people by Paul Kruger, leader of the Dutch - descended Boers who fought and lost to Britain in the Boer War of 1899-1op2.

After refusing to obey the resettlement order of Governor-General Ernest George Jansen, tribal lawyers took the case to both houses of Parliament.

Election

U. K. Conservatives Seek Return Seat

By ED SIMON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — For the second time in as many months, the Conservative party Thursday seeks to retain a Parliamentary seat in a by-election in which the odds favor an opposition candidate.

Last month's polling in Rochdale saw the government candidate suffer a disastrous third behind Labor and Liberal opponents, with less than one-third of the votes cast.

The current contest is in the Labor constituency of Kelvingrove which the late Walter Elliot, one of the most respected members in the House of Commons, carried by 2,688 votes in the 1955 general election in a three-way fight with Labor.

Swing by the anti-government voters of recent by-elections, the Tories say, is far from comfortable. In Rochdale turnover occurred in a seat in which the government in 1955 majority was only 362. But in Lewisham North, the only other seat lost by the Conservatives since the general election, Labor wiped out a 1955 Conservative margin of more than 3,000 with another 1,000 votes to spare.

In Kelvingrove the Conservative, an experienced candidate in the late member's widow, who act as chairman at the party's national conference in Brighton last summer. Her major opponent is Labor candidate Mrs. Mary McAlister, but two minor party candidates also are in the running.

The Scottish Liberal party has given its unofficial blessing but no formal support to David Murray, who is running under the Liberal-home rule banner.

The fouth candidate is William Park, of the Independent Labor Party, a left-wing splinter group with strong views about outlawing the hydrogen bomb.

Present standing in the 630-seat House of Commons is: Conservatives and allies 335, Labor 279, Liberals 5, Independent 9, vacant 2.

Probe Death Of Teenager

NIGHT LEAD Rollins Newish bg

HALIFAX (CP)—City health officer Dr. A. R. Morton said Wednesday he plans to call a meeting within the next few days of a four-man committee studying the extent of "goofball" adiction among teen-agers here.

Dr. Morton's announcement came shortly after Mrs. Rene Rollins said in a bylined story in The Mail-Star she thought her 14-year-old son, Tommy, died of an overdose of "pills". An inquest will be held Saturday.

The youth's body was found in a densely-wooded area of suburban Armdale March 8, seven days after he disappeared from his home.

Dr. Morton is chairman of a group set up by a special juvenile committee. It was established by Mayor Vaughan after a newspaper story last month hinted at extensive use of "drugs" by teenagers in the Halifax area.

PREVENT RECURRENCE

Mrs. Rollins said she wanted to tell the story of her son's death because "we can't do too much to prevent terrible things like what happened to Tommy."

She said a companion who identified Tommy's body told her the boy had at times taken the drug seconal in soft drinks.

The day before he disappeared Tommy arrived home from a movie acting strangely. He fell off a chair and staggered around the room. His parents called police who found 10 pills in the lining of Tommy's jacket. She quoted her son as saying "somebody gave me something in some coke in the show."

Next day Tommy, described by his mother as "mannerly and well liked", said he was going for a walk. It was the last time his parents saw him alive.

BORE GANG NAME

At the funeral home Mr. Rollins noticed the word Dukes printed in apparently indelible ink on Tommy's wrist. Two teenage gangs believed operating in the city call themselves the Sons of Satan and the Dukes.

Mrs. Rollins later said she has not been told officially what cause her son's death, but added she has no doubt drugs were to blame. An autopsy was performed but the results will not be disclosed until the inquest.

Halifax police chief Verdun Mitchell said Wednesday "several" incidents are under investigation. RCMP Superintendent F. A. Regan said there has been "little difficulty" outside the city.

Mayor Names Bus Commission

Mayor H. G. R. Mews announced last night that three citizens have been named members of the Commission to control the operation of the City's bus service.

They are Messrs. Lewis Ayre, Reginald Knight and William Fitzpatrick.

They will have complete control of the operations and will not be interfered with in any way by the Municipal Council.

If the Commission's annual report should reveal a deficit on operations the Council will assume responsibility for payment of same.

Peace Cabinet Walks Out

VANA (AP)—A government ee suspended civil rights ghout revolt - torn Cuba Wednesday and set off a et crisis. President Fulgen- Batista rode out the storm saw his "peace cabinet" out on him en masse.

e 22-member peace cabinet med last Thursday for the ult task of restoring order conducting elections June 1 ned after the decree was ed through at an emergency meeting.

Premier Emilio Nunez Portuondo, the former ambassador to the United Nations, led the walkout. He had declared Tuesday night there would be no suspension of constitutional guarantees such as had been decreed seven times in 1957.

Batista immediately named a new cabinet. The premiership went to Gonzalo Guell, former minister of state.

The suspension of constitutional guarantees is effective for 45 days. It meant immediate censorship of the press, radio and TV, including outgoing foreign news dispatches.

The decree in effect rules out election campaigning, since all mass meetings are prohibited.

The emergency cabinet session was called within 12 hours after rebel leader Fidel Castro, who launched the uprising in the mountains of east Cuba 14 months ago, refused to co-operate with a national conciliation commission backed by the Roman Catholic Church. Batista had supported the commission's peace-making efforts.

The 22,000-man army began recruiting to expand its size by almost a third.

Rebel sources said Castro had told his bands "the final fight" was about to begin and ordered them to step up attacks on army posts, bombings, arson, killings and sabotage.

Small Boat Liquor Regulations

By JACK VAN DUSEN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — The people who build and use small boats succeeded Wednesday in watering down a liquor clause in proposed federal small vessel regulations.

They argued the clause in the draft of the regulations, which will bring under one cover for the first time "laws of the road" for Canada's small boat operations, prevented boatmen from drinking aboard ship — even aboard yachts complete with living quarters.

The representatives of manufacturers, boating and tourist associations, provincial governments, and RCMP and provincial police officers were called here for a two-day meeting which ended Wednesday to help the department make the final draft of the regulations. They will become the "highway laws" of Canada's millions of miles of rivers, streams and lakes.

Most of the rules now governing boats of 15 tons and under and 10 horsepower and over are in effect under the Canada Shipping act. The small vessel regulations will bring together the rules "in the simplest form."

EFFECTIVE THIS YEAR

Norman Wilson, chairman of the meeting and director of the department's marine services, said most of the major changes recommended by the delegates will be incorporated in the 1958 regulations.

Ire of delegates was raised Wednesday over a clause making a boatman impaired by alcohol or a drug guilty of an offence if he "has the care or control of a vessel, whether it is in motion or not."

Delegates argued a home owner couldn't be charged with being impaired with drinking in his home. Many boats become homes in summer with owners living and drinking aboard.

Provincial regulations allowed for consumption of liquor on certain craft, but the federal regulation would make it possible for boaters to be arrested for consuming it.

The clause, 75th, of the 81-clause, 24-page regulations, was watered down to read:

"Every person who, while his ability to operate a vessel is impaired by alcohol or a drug, operates a vessel on any part or part of the inland minor or other waters of Canada is guilty of an offence."

The meeting left about 20 suggestions with the department some asking for changes in the regulations draft, and others ranging from recommendations on boat construction and safety equipment to the setting up of speed limits on waterways.

OPEN LETTER TO PREMIER SMALLWOOD FROM ART HARNETT

March 11, 1958
Clarenville

Honourable Joseph R. Smallwood,
Premier of Newfoundland,
St. John's.

Dear Mr. Premier:

I Have received numerous letters, petitions and personal representations from voters of Trinity-Conception, urging me to approach your government with the request that immediate attention be given their demands for the extension of electrical services to their communities

The people of Chapel Arm, Markland, Norman's Cove, Long Cove, Bellevue, Sunnyside, the Southwest Arm of Random, Random Island, and other Communities in my riding without electricity demand that the Newfoundland Government take advantage of the assistance that can be forthcoming from the Conservative Government in Ottawa. ALL THAT IS REQUIRED IS THE PREPARATION AND SUBMISSION OF A SUITABLE PLAN WHICH IS ACCEPTABLE TO THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have done so. WHY NOT NEWFOUNDLAND?

I draw your attention, sir, to the following statement made by Prime Minister Diefenbaker during his recent visit to Newfoundland.

Quote: "In a letter of January 8, to the Premier of Newfoundland, Alvin Hamilton the Minister of Northern Affairs and National Resources, said that the kind of assistance that would be made available in financing the Beechwood Hydro Plant could be made available in other instances, including Newfoundland, if an equal need of financial assistance could be shown. In other words, the plan is available to any Province that can make out an equal case for financial assistance." Unquote.

Mr. Premier, the people of Chapel Arm, Norman's Cove, Long Cove, Markland, Whiteway, Caplin Cove, Custer's Head, Dildo, Sunnyside, Random Island, Southwest Arm of Random, and all other communities yet to be electrified want electricity. They know that the Federal Government is prepared to give assistance to this Province. They ask the question, WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

On behalf of these people in the riding of Trinity-Conception I present Their case for electricity. KEEP THEM NO LONGER IN THE DARK.

Yours very truly,
ART HARNETT.

Fined For Breaches Of Shop Act

Five St. John's retail stores were each fined $25 for a breach of the Shop Act in Magistrate's Court Wednesday. The stores were London New York and Paris, Parker and Monroe, Bon Marche, Swersky and Co. Ltd., and The Model Shop.
A summons issued against Simon Levitz and Son Ltd., was dismissed by Magistrate Hugh O'Neil as there were no customers in the store at the time the police inspected it. He said that there had been no offence within the meaning of the act if no trading had been going on, even if the store was open.
Mr. R. Furlong, Q.C., for the defence, declined to carry out cross-examinations as he said "it would be fruitless to repeat" the arguments already presented in the Shop Act issue. He stated that all cases would be appealed and asked the Magistrate to postpone payment of the fines until after the appeal was heard. Magistrate O'Neil agreed to this request.
The cases against Newfoundland Wholesale and Dry Goods, Ayre and Sons and Bowrings (Churchill Park) were adjourned until March 18.

ON EXERCISE—Members of the 2nd Battalion, The Canadian Guards, are presently undergoing intensive military training with the 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade in Germany. Having lunch after a tough morning's training are Guardsmen James Sulley and David Mootrey, both from St. John's, Nfld.—(N. D. Photo).

Fire:

Considerable Damage To Water St. Buildings

Fire broke out late last night and burned for nearly two hours this morning, did considerable damage to the Stirling Building and the Campbell Building at the junction of Water and Holdsworth streets.
Fire of unknown origin broke out in the basement of the Stirling building shortly after eleven thirty and burned until after two o'clock this morning. The blaze burned it's way from the basement at the rear of the building to the roof completely gutting the rear section of the three storey concrete building.
Smoke billowed from the basement as firemen poured thousands of gallons of water on it to keep it in check but the fire had made headway and within an hour flames started to shoot out from the second storey windows and then from the roof top.
The Stirling Building received all the fire damage while the Campbell Building was considerably damaged by smoke and water.
The restaurant section of the Stirling Building was occupied by the Luncheonette Restaurant operated by Mr. Thomas, while at the rear section the Stirling Tavern was located. Both the restaurant and the tavern received complete gutting by the fire. The Campbell building is occupied by Campbel's Meat Market on the ground floor while the upstairs section was occupied by an American family.
Fire equipment from the Central and West End Stations responded to the call and firemen had to battle against heavy smoke in their attempts to quench the blaze. As the blaze progressed the aerial ladder was put into operation and the firemen started to fight the blaze from the roof while others poured thousands of gallons of water for the lower sections.
Hundreds of spectators stood in the drizzily weather to watch the conflagration which was finally brought under control shortly after two o'clock this morning.
The Campbell Building was ruined by water and smoke but suffered no fire damage. Employees of the meat market removed the valuables from the building as a safeguard against the fire spreading, but firemen under the direction of Fire Chief Vivian and Capt. Cadigan kept the blaze confined to the rear section of the Stirling Building. From the start in the basement the fire raged up through the stairway and elevator shaft to the roof but it was kept from spreading to the front of the building.
No estimate of damage was available up to an early hour this morning but it is believed that the figure will run high into the thousands of dollars.

Large Funeral At Whitbourne

The funeral of the late John C. Brown, who died suddenly on Monday, March 10th at Whitbourne was held at Whitbourne on Tuesday afternoon with a service in the Anglican Church and at the grave side in the Anglican cemetery.
The Rev. George Camp, rector of the church at Whitbourne conducted the service and paid a tribute to the deceased who for the past fourteen years was superintendent of the Boys Home at Whitbourne.
Clergy from many nearby places attended the burial service and the Rev. Canon Facey of Heart's Content, the Rev. Canon Loder of Spaniard's Bay, and the Rev. Guy Fowler assisted in the service at the Church. The Very Rev. Archdeacon W. G. Legge conducted the commital service at the grave side.
The deceased was a prominent member of the Masonic and Orange fraternities and representatives of both organizations attended the service in full regalia of their order.
The Kiwanis Clubs of St. John's, Bell Island and Whitbourne were also represented, and the district governor of Kiwanis, Mr. George Chalker of St. John's attended.
The delegation from Bell Island was headed by Dr. Templeman and the St. John's group by Mr. Chalker.
The whole Kiwanis Club of Whitbourne, which was founded by the late Mr. Brown, attended the funeral, and all stores in the community of Whitbourne closed for the hour so that all citizens could attend.
The Minister of Welfare, the Hon. S. J. Hefferton; the deputy minister, Mr. R. L. Andrews, and Mr. Stewart Godfrey, Mr. J. A. Clancey of that department, and Mr. J. Pennell, Mr. C. Noftall and Mr. J. Sullivan of the staff of the Department of Public Works went from St. John's for the service.

St. John's Diabetes Ass'n.

As a result of discussions between members of the medical profession and other interested groups, the Tanglers group of the St. John's Rotary Club arranged a meeting at the General Hospital last week to discuss the organization of a Diabetes Association.
The meeting was attended by representatives of the medical profession, the Registered Nurses Association, the Public Health Nurses, the St. John's Home Economics Association, the Nfld. Dental Association, the Nfld. Teachers Association, and certain service clubs and other groups.
The chairman of the meeting, acting on behalf of the Tanglers group of Rotary invited comments from those attending regarding the desirability or otherwise of a Diabetes Association in St. John's.
Miss Patricia Giovanetti, President of the St. John's Home Economics Association described similar associations in other provinces and the opportunities they provide for those interested in diabetes to attend lectures or movies or diet demonstrations as a group. Dr. R. J. Simms gave a brief description of the Medical aspects of the problem and stressed the importance of detecting the disorder as early as possible. A detection survey is being considered, utilizing the facilities of the M.V. Christmas Seal. Dr. A. MacDermott, Chief Medical Health Officer, announced that this program would be approved by the Dept. of Health.
After a full discussion a steering committee was formed and Dr. James Darcy was elected as chairman.
It was decided to call an open meeting on Wednesday, March 19th for the purpose of choosing an executive to proceed with the educational, social, and other aims of the association. People who have diabetes will be welcomed at this meeting, but also their relatives and anybody interested in this problem.
The Place—Committee Room of the General Hospital, main entrance.
The Time—Wednesday, March 19th, at 8.15 p.m.

Blood—

The Great Life Saver

The medical profession is out for blood—more and more precious blood to fill the growing need for the life giving fluid in the fields of preventive and corrective medicine.
Every year science is finding more and more uses for blood and blood derivitives in their constant battle with disease and injury.
Consider also the growth of our hospital system and the increased demand for medical services of an expanding population and will realize that what is required today is a constant, regulated supply of blood administered by a single, competent agency.
This is just what is envisaged by the Newfoundland Division of the Canadian Red Cross in their Free Blood Transfusion Service which is to be inaugurated in Newfoundland this year.
With the inauguration of this service the Red Cross will assume sole responsibility for the collection and distribution of blood to fill any and every requirement in every corner of the Province.
This is a vast undertaking but it follows the procedure which has been in effect in every other Province of Canada for years.
Here in Newfoundland the Red Cross Division has to find an extra fifteen thousand dollars per year towards the cost of this program while the National office of the Red Cross undertakes to find the additional seventy-five thousand dollars required.
Give generously to the Red Cross 1958 financial appeal and help the Newfoundland Divisio conntinue their services in Newfoundland o the highest level.

All Miners' Claims Filed

An official of the Unemployment Insurance Commission stated last night that all claims filed to date by unemployed miners at Bell Island will be dated March 2.
The disruption of communications has delayed processing but that work is now proceeding satisfactory.
No payments will be made on account of the first seven days of unemployment, which have been termed "waiting period."

Beta Sigma Phi

XI-Alpha Chapter Beta Sigma Phi held their regular meeting on Monday, 10th March 1958, at the home of Ruth Magill, 7 by the President, Chris Parsons, Falkland Street, presided over After a successful business meeting, the Cultural Program was taken over by the Program Chairman, Ruth Magill, who announced the topic for the evening, "Let's think about thinking." All the members participated in the first assignment, giving their comments on what they think about generally. The second assignment, "How do we think," wa taken by Trudy Green. The third assignment "Why do we think," was taken by Chris Parsons. In view of the fact that no references were used, all members agreed that both these talks were well thought out and delivered. After the meeting a delicious supper was served by the Hostess of the evening, Ruth Magill.
Don't miss the Beta Sigma Phi bake sale to take place on Friday the 14th March at Bowrings. All types of home baking, jams and preserves etc, will be on display. This is a combined effort of all four chapters. There is a treat in store for all.

Support For Red Cross During March Month

Newfoundland with the rest of Canada is helping Canadian Red Cross during the month of March to raie the necessary funds to carry on the work of mercy which is purpose for its founding.
Citizens in all walks of life support and benefit from Canadian Red Cross, and this year Canadian Red Cross hopes to establish a blood transfusion service in Newfoundland to give adequate service in time of emergency to the people everywhere in the Province.

Dinner Party For Teachers

The Board of Governors of the Prince of Wales College, Harrington and Holloway Schools were hosts last evening for the staff of the three schools at a dinner party which was held in the Newfoundland Hotel.

Local 1620 I.B.E.W. Holds Social

Local 1620, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, held a social at the Towne and Country Restaurant last night for the linesmen from Corner Brook and Grand Falls who came to St. John's to help in the repairing of the damage cased by the sleet storm.
The men from Corner Brook and Grand Falls are employees of the Nfld. Light and Power at these towns and members of Local 1620. With a large part of the damage fixed the men will be returning to their homes today and the social last night gave them a royal sendoff.

Only One "Thimbleful" $10.00

Charged with being drunk in a public place Wednesday a man told the court "I only had a thimbelful and what's the good of that?"
Glaring indignantly at Magistrate O'Neil he pointed a shaking finger at the picture of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth above his head and shouted "There's the Queen lookin' down at me and I fought for her."
He was fined $10.00.

Activities At City Hall

The regular weekly meeting of the City Council was held at City Hall on Wednesday morning with Mayor H. G. R. Mews presiding and Deputy Mayor James D. Higgins, Q.C., and Councillors Carnell, Nightingale and Henley were present.

EXTENSION OF RAILWAY YARDS

A letter from the Canadian National Railways asked the Council for confirmation of approval in principle of the overall plan, which they recently submitted for extension to the railway yards.
The city engineer said that he will bring in the report next week, and Mr. Higgins moved that the request of the Railway be deferred until the engineer's report is received.

PROTEST AGAINST CERTAIN FEATURES

Two letters received this week by the City Council, one from Mr. Paul Winter at 37 Downing Street, and the other from Mr. Ralph D. Moore at 39 Downing Street protested that the new apartment buildings on the north side of Elizabeth Avenue between Downing Street and Portugal Cove Road will have an extension up Downing Street by the addition of a further apartment unit to the north of the rear line of the building on Elizabeth Avenue, and that the original plans of the building contained no such extension.
Giving four itemized objections the two home owners asked the Council to consider two suggestions for improving the situation.
Mayor Mews said that the time has come when the Council should insist on keeping a breathing space between large buildings and homes. The city engineer said that the Council had approved of the original plans and that he had no notice of change in these plans. The Council asked the city clerk to answer the letters.
"There is no such thing as residential number one in St. John's today," the Mayor said, and added that "Its a hodge podge."
Councillor Nightingale moved that the question be referred to town planning.

REQUEST FOR TAXI STAND

A letter from Wood and Kelly, solicitors for Mr. Bramwell Lewis, requested that the Council would reconsider Mr. Lewis' application for permission to operate a taxi stand on Pennywell Road.
The seven facts suggested in the letter from the solicitors to the Council were referred to the city solicitor, Mr. E. J. Phelan for consideration.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Mr. V. A. Ainsworth, general manager of the Newofundland Light and Power Company thanked the council by letter for their letter of appreciation and said that a photostatic copy of the letter was passed over to each crew as they came off duty, after hard and long hours on duty repairing the damage to the lines

UNSANITARY CONDITIONS

Mr. Higgins reported to the Council that at an early hour yesterday morning he had been called out to the road which leads from the lower Battery to the top Battery and that he found the road seriously rutted and some of the pits in the road full of refuse and sewerage that had come down on the lower road in the last rain storm.
Mr. Higgins brought this to the attention of the Council, he said, because if the Council can do nothing in this area the matter should be taken up with

Board Of Trade's Year

The biggest feather in the cap of the Board of Trade last year was the part it had played in bringing about the survey that has resulted in the decision of the Federal Government to give St. John's a modern port. This was a happy ending to a constructive idea. But the activities of the Board have included also a great many other useful projects.

More would be held of these if the usual annual dinner meeting had been held. This has been for many years an important local occasion and helped to focus a good deal of public attention on the Board of Trade's operations. It could not be held this year and the organization has thereby been deprived of some useful publicity.

But it is today a publicity-minded body. The time was when it was a pretty close corporation which guarded its secrets and looked upon the press very much as intruders. During the past quarter of a century, however, the work of the Board has been much extended, its scope broadened and its purposes enlarged.

While it is natural that its major interests should be economic, the Board has realized that its specialized and well-informed opinions on a variety of topics should be boldly expressed. This has been a useful contribution to the sum of popular understanding of many things of general importance to the whole Newfoundland community.

The fact is that the Board of Trade has become a vigorous and increasingly valuable force in the promotion of provincial interests and deserves at the very least that this fact should be publicly acknowledged.

Historic Sites

While many notable Newfoundland events have been long ago approved by the Historic Sites and Monuments Committee, nothing has been done for some years to give effect to the decisions which included restoration of the Guy memorial at Cupids and erection of a monument to Lord Baltimore in Ferryland. We are glad to learn, however, that plans for the development of Signal Hill as a National Historical Park are well in hand and that good progress may be expected this year.

This happens to be a province which has more to commemorate than any other province of Canada, not excepting Quebec. The foundations of the British colonies in North America were laid in this island. St. John's is not merely the eastern gateway to Canada but also the place in which Canadian history had its beginning. Yet we have done very little on our own account to perpetuate the famous events in our history and the Government of Canada has done less.

But Canada can redeem its past oversight by what it does for Signal Hill under the shadow of which the first English ships to come to North America took shelter, Cartier had his rendezvous with Roberval and Gilbert laid the foundation of the British Empire. Well-planned, Signal Hill can become one of the best known historical parks in Canada and a notable memorial to the memory of the courageous seamen who were the pioneers of Britain's westward progress and the first to make possible the building of the Canadian nation.

The Election In B.C.

The Canadian correspondent of the New York Times, Raymond Daniell, recently completed an election survey of British Columbia where he found voters apathetic and many of them believed to be still uncommitted. He has reported, however, that the opinion in British Columbia is that the tide is running with the Conservatives largely on the ground that Canada needs a stable government "and that the best way to assure that is to increase the strength of the party that won last June but without a majority."

Another interesting opinion reported by Mr. Daniell is concerned with the future of Social Credit. He has said that "Liberals, Conservatives, and Socialists (C.C.F.) all are trying to break the hold of Social Credit here and it is the consensus among politicians that the movement has spent its force. Who will be the gainer at Social Credit's expense is the big unanswered question."

The expectation of Conservative gains in British Columbia must rest very largely upon the inroads the party will be able to make in the strength of the Social Crediters. Whether that prospect is open in Alberta where the great strength of Social Credit lies is much more uncertain.

Let's Have A Coalition

Newfoundland audiences have now had an opportunity to see the national leaders of both the Conservative and Liberal parties and hear the specific nature of their appeal to the electorate.

The Conservatives are standing chiefly on their record of the past eight months which is quite formidable. In addition, they have promised to extend to Newfoundland the benefits of price support for fish and we shall, of course, have our share of the proposed billion dollar public works programme.

The Liberals will reduce taxes, pay ninety per cent of the cost of the Trans-Canada highway, aid in rural electrification and extend the scope of equalization.

The pity is that we have to choose between these offers. In fact, we cannot help feeling that the best solution for Newfoundland would be a situation which would compel Liberals and Conservatives to form a coalition government. That way we would get it all.

C.N.R. Travel Guide

We have yet to see a more attractive tourist advertisement than the picture guide to the Atlantic Provinces which has been recently issued by Canadian National Railways. It takes the form of a folder on which are reproduced in lively and accurate colour some of the most beautiful scenes to be found in the Maritimes and Newfoundland. The pictures representative of this province were well selected and the whole effect of the folder is to make us wish that here in Newfoundland we were in a position to offer to tourists the conveniences and facilities that would allow them to enjoy the beauty of the Newfoundland scene in genuine comfort. We are still far from that stage and what we have to offer in good roads and adequate and suitable accommodation makes any appeal to visit this island still a little ironical.

RIGHTS TO PENSIONERS
Moose Jaw Times-Herald

Under the present Canadian regulations, they (old age pensioners) must continue to live in Canada to receive their old age pensions. These pensions are theirs as of right. They have contributed to them during working years. They are payment for past services to the country. Why should the right to them be lost by leaving Canada to live in some other land?

In The News

By WAYFARER

HOW MUCH, HOW SOON?

In a series of spectacular announcements the Provincial Government has set out a programme for the next five years which will cost the immense sum of one hundred million dollars and provide a great deal of construction labour in many parts of the island. It would be naive to suggest that the timing of the releases is unrelated to the election campaign. On the other hand, the Premier revealed some months ago that the province was soon to enter upon an era of tremendous progress in the public services. These plans have been in course of preparation for some time. They were designed to be included in the new budget. While they may have their political propaganda value at the moment, the intention to put them into effect was arrived at long before the dissolution of parliament. And that brings us to the particular reason for referring to them in this article.

We suppose that in making these plans the Government has felt that it can overcome the financial problem. We are not going to consider this at the moment. In fact, we are just going to assume that it will be possible to carry out in full the details of the education, health and road policies and perhaps a rural electrification programme as well. The road plan omits the Trans-Canada Highway because of the hope that the Liberals will win the election and fulfill their promise to pay 90 per cent of the cost. This is something else we shall not discuss at this time. We mentioned because it is to the purpose of this article that completion of the Trans-Canada will be an operation concurrent with the other parts of the road policy. That would add hundreds of miles of rebuilding, grading and pavement to the present programme.

Including completion of Trans-Canada, the announcements mean at the very least that capital spending over the next few years is considered at the average rate of more than $25 million a year. Two questions immediately arise. One is whether it will be physically possible in four years for the road programme and five years for the other policies to do that much work efficiently and economically; and the other is whether thought has been given to the effect of these immense plans on the general economy.

It is probable that a good deal of unemployment will exist in some areas this year as a result of the curtailment of logging operations. In other respects, employment should be close to the normal level. There is no reason to assume a decline in the fishery. Moreover certain federal and private construction plans over the next few years should help to take up some of the slack. And this raises the question of how the development of the public services is to be planned to do maximum good and the least harm.

* * *

Apart from the necessity of improving the education, health and road services, there is the need of maintaining the economy on an even keel. It cannot be desired that men who can make a living at the fishery should quit to take jobs on construction of one kind or another. As a means of coping with unemployment, the new policies should aim at providing work for those who would otherwise be jobless. This points to the obvious need of very careful planning in respect to the inauguration and supervision of all the new works. Moreover a situation must be avoided in which competition may exist for workers between government and private enterprise. We are not suggesting that these things are not in mind. On the other hand, if private construction plans are included, the probability is that when the programme hits its stride the sum of nearly $30 million may be expended on materials and labour in the five or six months of the local construction season.

There is one other factor. The need of new services must be balanced not only against the immediate economic situation but also the future. This short-term project, for five years is a short term, once it has been completed, may leave a vacuum so far as seasonal labour in the construction trades is concerned. We must be prepared for that possibility as well. Even if the money should be in hand and the equipment and everything else needed may be easily available, there are other considerations. These all require careful, farsighted, detailed planning as the essential preliminary to launching the programme.

The offer of immunity from prosecution for return of stolen goods, is considered under the law in Canada to be "compounding a felony." Once goods are stolen the police in Canada enter the picture. MOORE IS NEEDED
(Detroit Free Press)

Hanson W. Baldwin, the New York Times' military critic, writes that "Any program for survival in the nuclear age involves sacrifice, hard work, huge costs, difficult judgments and imaginative research."

True enough. And if it is to be anything better than just bare survival a substantial portion of all those elements must be devoted to finding a way to gain peace and not alone to running neck-and-neck in a weapons race.

BAREFOOT BRIDE
(Edinburg Scotsman)

The quaintest story of the snow storm was of Julia O'Malley, a 21-year-old Glenrothes girl, who had to walk some 2 miles through the snow—in her bare feet—after her wedding at Falkland Palace chapel.

Her bridegroom was George weepers, a 20-year-old miner. They had run into taxi trouble in the storm.

Julia gave up the idea of a white wedding—her bridal gown was spoilt. And after her barefoot trek with her husband they honeymooned in a hotel where 20 guests had to be accommodated in four rooms.

Although still in the process of negotiating for financial assistance for its spanking new $1.7 million water purification plant, the city of Cornwall now is confronted with another major project involving a large capital expenditure.

City council has decided that plans for a $3,000,000 sewage disposal plant will be studied. The findings will be submitted to the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

The proposed sewage disposal plant represents just another of the many major essential service problems facing a growing city like Cornwall.

IN THE LOOKING GLASS
((Toronto Globe and Mail)

Mr. Paul Martin complained in Tecumseh the other night that the national hospital insurance plan, which the Diefenbaker Government has signed with Ontario and is prepared to sign with other provinces when they are ready, should have included cases of tuberculosis and mental illness.

The Hospital Insurance and Diagnostic Servives Act specifically excludes: "a tuberculosis hospital or sanatorium" and "a hospital or institution for the mentally ill.'" The act was passed under the former Liberal Government (Royal Assent April 12, 1957), and was prepared by or under the eye of, the Minister of National Health and Welfare.

And who was the minister? Now we are back to Mr. Paul Martin.

To The Editor

Editor Daily News,

Dear Sir—Will you kindly grant me space to record some comments on the arguments that the Liberal Party are putting forth in the present election campaign?

The Liberals claim that they will reduce income tax by 25% if they are elected. If this money is not needed by the Government, why was this amount of tax imposed by the Liberals down through the years? Why were the people deprived of the privilege of spending this money themselves if the Government did not need it? This money must have been lying idle if it was not needed, so why were the people deprived of such adequate facilities as decent coastal boats, when they were forced to use overcrowded TUBS? Why did we have to smash up our cars driving them over mere rights-of-day instead of decent roads? Why did we have to use oil barrels instead of bridges to get our cars past dead ends?

If this money was not needed, and the Liberals admit it wasn't by claiming the Treasury can do without it, as it will have to do if income tax is cut, then it was gross mismanagement on their part and inability to handle our affairs properly. They were taking money from us without just cause.

Mr. Pearson claims that Mr. Diefenbaker's plan for a Public Works program to cut down unemployment is no good. Cutting down income tax, he says, is the thing. How can putting extra money into the pockets of the people already employed help the person without a job? Our unemployed today would be more than glad, I think, to have the privilege of being able to pay income tax.

It has also been stated that half of Newfoundland's employed today are earning $3000 per annum or less. Now, with the new income tax reductions introduced by Mr. Diefenbaker, a married man with four children and earning $3000 does not have to pay any income tax. So it can readily be seen how many people in the $3000 or less income bracket will benefit by any further tax reductions.

Are we going to force thousands of our people to live on Unemployment Insurance or in many cases nothing, in order to put a few extra dollars into the pockets of the people already earning good wages, when they could be given the opportunity to earn money in a Public Works program which would not be possible if there were no taxes to pay for it?

One last question: If Mr. Granger cannot stand on his own two feet at a public meeting of ordinary people in an election campaign, and put forth his ideas and convictions, without the help of four Cabinet Ministers, how can he hope to accomplish anything in Parliament, where he will have to contend with some of the best brains in the land?

The answer is simple. He won't have to. He won't be there.

Yours truly,
ON DECK WITH DECKER.

Foreign Aid Conference Stirs Up Barbed Questions

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The question remains whether the one-day Washington conference of citizens from all over will do any good in selling the foreign aid program.

It was unquestionably the biggest huckster experiment here in years.

Eric Johnston, the movie czar, arranged the White House suggestion. Fifteen tycoons, including Ernest Breech, of Ford, and Frank Pace, of General Dynamics, agreed to pick up the check for the affair. They ran about $12,000 for the day, including a free lunch addressed by ex-President Harry Truman and the evening banquet addressed by President Eisenhower.

All of the dozen speeches delivered during the day were in favor of bigger and better foreign aid, naturally.

If this oratory influences any of the 250 congressmen and 75 senators who did not attend the conference, the powwow was a success.

But in a question-and-answer session during lunch, some of the guests asked some pretty tough questions.

For instance, Warren H. Atherton, Stockton, Calif., former American Legion commander, wanted to know how come the U.S. was financing big dam constructions in places like Asia and Africa when all new starts on U.S. reclamation projects were stopped?

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, presiding, said this was a political question so he'd answer it.

His full answer can't be given in this space but in conclusion he said:

"In World War II we had no reclamation and nobody complained. We were fighting a war for survival then. We are doing the same now. It isn't a military war—it's an economic war. And we must make sacrifices at home now to win the war of survival launched against us."

An anonymous rough question sent up for answer was, "What can be done to assure the American people that our foreign aid program will be conducted with greater efficiency?"

New Director of International Cooperation James H. Smith, Jr., fumbled the answer on the one by saying that he had just analyzed the specific criticisms against his administration. He had found only four cases in which ICA had made mistakes and 40 in which the mistakes were not the fault of U.S. personnel. He didn't go into the other 25 cases.

Vice President Nixon took it from there to save it. He cited the case of the Iranian project which has been criticized. Nixon maintained it was better to go ahead, even if there was some waste, then to stop the program and let Iran go Communist.

Clarence Mitchell of National Association for the Advancement of Colored People wanted to know if the U.S. was going to continue to give foreign countries arms which could be used to kill children, as in the recent French raid in Tunisia.

Deputy Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon, in answering this, had to admit that some of the equipment used by the French in the raid was of American origin. But Dillon said that there was a provision in all U.S. mutual security agreements that American arms could be used for common defense, and that the government was looking into this case further

FIRST MEETINGS

Liberal candidate in St. John's East held his first meetings in the fringe areas of the provincial St. John's districts on Tuesday night. Greg O'Grady held one meeting at Flat Rock and another at Torbay South.

The Honourable Gregory J. Power, provincial Minister of Highways, accompanied Mr. O'Grady on his canvass on Tuesday night. Mr. Power said Mr. O'Grady received an excellent reception.

AVONDALE TONIGHT

The Liberal candidate in St. John's East plans a big meeting at Avondale tonight. Greg O'Grady will have a special speaker at his meeting in Avondale.

The Liberal member for Harbour Main, Captain Matt Whelan, will be among the other speakers. The meeting is scheduled to start at eight o'clock.

Mr. O'Grady had laid on plans for special entertainment during the meeting. A St. John's band, Mickey Duggan's, will provide music for the entertainment period which will be included in Mr. O'Grady's meeting.

GRANGER

"The Liberal party is the people's party," the Liberal candidate in Grand Falls-White Bay-Labrador told a rousing public meeting at Northern Arm, Botwood, Monday night. "Lester Pearson's programme", Charlie Granger said, "is simply a policy aimed at obtaining freedom from the fear of want. Liberalism is the history of human freedom."

The big crowd which heard Mr. Granger sang "For he's a jolly good fellow" after the Liberal candidate had concluded his address. On the platform with Mr. Granger was the Liberal member of the Legislature for Green Bay District, William R. Smallwood.

Mr. Granger held his meeting at Northern Arm after a canvass of Point Leamington on Monday afternoon.

CARTER

The Liberal incumbent in the riding of Burin-Burgeo has had to abandon his plan of working westward through his riding from the Burin Peninsula. Continued bad weather postponed Major Ches Carter's plans to work westward and now he has decided to work east from Port aux Basques in order to avoid further delays.

Major Carter left St. John's by train on Tuesday and has arrived in Port aux Basques. He will leave Port aux Basques after an initial canvass there to campaign eastward toward the [illegible]

Shot gun receptions have greeted Major Carter in his campaigning in many settlements in the eastern half of his riding. "I've been getting wonderful receptions everywhere," Major Carter said. The traditional gun firing, shouts, and flag waving have been a part of Major Carter's meetings in nearly every settlement.

Major Carter said he has visited every settlement from English Harbour West to Point Rosie, Placentia Bay, Burin Peninsula and Fortune Bay.

PICKERSGILL

The Liberal incumbent in the riding of Bonavista-Twillingate plans general campaigning this week in part of Bonavista Bay, Fogo district, and Twillingate district. The Honourable J. W. Pickersgill will campaign in Twillingate with the Attorney General, the Honourable L. R. Curtis who is provincial member for that district.

Mr. Pickersgill has formulated plans for a hectic three weeks of campaigning between now and election day. In four days next week he will hold no less than eight public meetings in various parts of his riding. He will also be conducting extensive grass roots canvassing.

Mr. Pickersgill is seeking his third term as Liberal member of Parliament for Bonavista Twillingate.

BATTEN

The meetings of the Liberal incumbent in the riding of Humber-St. George's have taken a unique twist. Herman N. Batten has introduced a special question period at the end of each of his meetings to give voters a chance to air their views and ask him about any subjects with which he hasn't dealt in his speeches.

Mr. Batten is continuing to make trade and unemployment the two key issues of his campaign. Tuesday night in a meeting at Robinson's he was asked a number of questions about the trade problem as it relates to Newfoundland's fish markets. Mr. Batten stressed the importance of improving trade relations with the United States to avoid the imposition of tariff barriers on Newfoundland fish exports.

The meeting at Robinson's was an excellent one, Mr. Batten stated.

J.R.S. WITH TUCKER

Premier J. R. Smallwood next week will devote his efforts to campaigning in behalf of the Liberal candidate in the riding of Trinity-Conception. Mr. Smallwood plans to return to St. John's over the weekend and on Monday he will announce his plans for his campaign tour of Trinity-Conception.

Liberal candidate James R. Tucker is continuing to work south through Trinity Bay today and will continue to work in that direction through the remainder of this week. He will join Premier Smallwood for the campaign tour next week.

MARSHALL

Mr. Leslie Marshall, the President of the Progressive Conservative Association of Newfoundland, yesterday released the following statement:

"It has come to the attention of the Progressive Conservative Association that a large number of voters in both St. John's East and St. John's West ridings are in danger of losing their right to vote because of numerous omissions from the voters' lists.

"The Progressive Conservative Headquarters in St. John's has been deluged with telephone calls during the past few days from Progressive Conservative supporters complaining that their names were not taken when the enumerators were making their rounds.

"Many of these people are claiming that they were bypassed by the enumerators while their next door neighbours were listed.

"Our association considers the possibility that even one voter might be deprived of his right to exercise his franchise as a most serious matter and consequently we have gone to considerable trouble to set up a system to assist such people in getting their names on the voters' lists. In this connection it should be pointed out to every voter that unless his or her name is on the voters lists on polling day they will not be able to vote.

"Courts of Revision have been called for both the St. John's ridings and these will function during the next three days. The Court of Revision for St. John's East will sit at the Synod Hall on Queen's Road and any person residing in the St. John's East riding whose name is not on the voters' list can have their name included if they visit the Synod Hall between ten and eleven a.m. or between seven and ten p.m. today, Friday or Saturday.

"The Courts of Revision for St. John's West will sit at 55 Casey Street, 94 Patrick Street and 23 Sudbury Street and the hours are the same as those for St. John's East: ten to eleven a.m. and seven to ten p.m. today, Friday and Saturday.

"Meanwhile any person who would like to have transportation to the Court of Revision to have his or her name included on the voters' list is advised to call any of the following telephone numbers and arrangements will be made for them.

"Anyone who hasn't been included on the voters' list is advised to note these numbers and to call at any time during the next three days while the Courts of Revision are sitting."

BROWNE

Hon. W. J. Browne, Minister without Portfolio in the Diefenbaker Government, arrived back in St. John's yesterday from a planning conference in Halifax and one of his first acts was to get in touch with the Newfoundland Light and Power Company to ask for action in getting electric power back to parts of his St. John's West riding still without power.

As a result of Mr. Browne's urging the Newfoundland Light and Power Company disclosed yesterday afternoon that the people of the Blackhead-Valley Road area will have their power back today, Thursday, at the latest.

Mr. Browne also received assurance from the Light and Power Company that the power will be back to people in the Goulds area by this weekend at the latest.

Yesterday Mr. Browne spent several hours catching up on a backlog of correspondence that had piled up during the past few days and interviewing a considerable number of people who called on him for assistance and advice.

McGRATH

Jim McGrath, the P. C. candidate in St. John's East, disclosed this afternoon that Mr. Arthur Maloney, who made a special trip down in order to speak on the platform with Mr. McGrath had to return to the mainland yesterday without reaching St. John's. Mr. Maloney, who was held up in Stephenville, was scheduled to fly back to the mainland yesterday.

Meanwhile the Stephenville Branch of the P. C. Association were on hand Tuesday to welcome Mr. Maloney to their community and they arranged a dinner and reception for the Toronto-Parkdale member. In addition Mr. Maloney addressed the Stephenville Lions club Tuesday night.

Mr. McGrath meanwhile left yesterday afternoon for Collier's where he held a meeting last night. His guest speakers were Mr. A. M. Duffy, the P. C. Member of the House of Assembly for St. John's Centre and John R. O'Dea, an executive member of the P. C. Association.

COLE

Poor flying weather forced a change of plans yesterday for the P.C. candidate for Burin-Burgeo, Harvey Cole.

Mr. Cole was scheduled to visit St. John's yesterday for a few hours after which he proposed heading across country to Port aux Basques to commence a campaign swing through the western end of the riding.

When it was clear that the flight could not be made Mr. Cole started out instead on a tour of the Bay L'Argent area. Today he will make a swing through the Fortune Bay area by boat.

Yesterday's report from Mr. Cole's campaign headquarters disclosed that the sentiment in favour of th eP. C. candidate is undiminished and ardent Conservatives in the area are now predicting that Mr. Cole will not only be elected but that he will win over his opponent with a better than comfortable majority.

Mr. Cole will now reschedule his western campaign tour to a more suitable time as far as flying conditions are concerned.

The itinerary for this tour will be announced as soon as it can be laid on.

If a suit or dress needs alteration when you buy it, have the changes made at once. Many women wear a dress that's too long through the waist or too wide through the shoulders in order to save money. This is a poor way to save since the total effect of the dress is ruined.

Women's World Day Of Prayer At Blackhead

The service for the World Day of Prayer, prepared by women of Australia, was held in Blackhead School Hall on the afternoon of Feb 21st, under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary Society.

Mrs. Harold Moran, President of the Society, conducted the service, and was assisted by Mrs. Thomas LeGrow and Mrs Roy LeGrow.

The theme of the service was "The Bread of Life."

The guest speaker was Miss Ella Moores, who spoke in harmony with the theme, and the purpose of the World Day of Prayer.

The soloist was Mrs. Clifford Baggs, and Mrs. John Butt was the organist for the service.

Special prayers were taken by Rev. Mr. Murley, Mrs. Harold Stanford, Mrs. Clayton Diamond, Mrs. Robert Gulliford and Mrs. Thomas LeGrow.

An offering, for the production and distribution of Christian literature around the world, was taken. Mrs. William Hollett and Mrs. Ernest Bishop took up the offering.

The singing of the hymn "The Day Thou Gavest Lord Is Ended" and the Benediction by Rev. Mr. Murley brought the service to a close.

Belated birthday greetings are sent by her friends to Linda Joyce White of 37 Liverpool Avenue, who celebrated her birthday on Wednesday, March 12th. Linda will have a birthday party on Saturday at her home.

ON LEAVE

Constable Robin C. G. Ward of the Canadian Mounted Police returned over the weekend on leave, after an absence of one year, nine months of which he spent in training at Regina, Sask., and three months in Toronto where he is now stationed. Robin is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Ward, 103 Elizabeth Avenue where he will be staying for the next 3 weeks. His many friends wish him a very happy vacation.

HOLD MEETING

The postponed February meeting of the Woman's Association of Gower Street United Church was held on March 7 in the Common Room with Mrs. C. J. Powell, the vice-president, presiding. The Devotional period was conducted by Mrs. B. Pugh assisted by Mrs. R. Moores and Mrs. H. Pippy. The theme of the meditation was 'Stewardship". During the service a very touching duet "List to the Voice" was beautifully sung by Misses Marilyn Moore and Angeline Nickerson from the CGIT.

Following a short business session Mrs. M. Gray, secretary of Christian Citizenship, introduced the guest speaker Mrs. Muriel McKay whose topic was the Canadian Association of Conumers. The members were very impressed and gained much valuable information from Mrs. McKay's description of the services rendered to the consumer by the Canadian Association of Consumers.

The next meeting will be held on March 21.

BILLIE H. EARLE

Congratulations to Billie H. Earle at Shearstown who will celebrate his eleventh birthday today, March 13th. The greetings come from all the family.

Thinking It Over

Highways are being rebuilt in many parts of the nation. Super highways are taking the places of winding, bumpy roads. We used to think that these curving thoroughfares were dangerous because there were so many opportunities for landing in the ditch. Narrow roads created the hazard of one's being sideswiped in the center of the road.

Accidents have not decreased a great deal since highways have been reconstructed. New dangers have come into being. Speed now claims the lives of many people and it causes scores of accidents which do not kill people.

Although our way through life has been materially much easier and more comfortable in recent years there seems to be many pitfalls and opportunities for sin. Temptation seems to lurk along the level way even more than it did along the rugged trails of years gone by.

Manners Make Friends

One of the most common eating faults is taking too large bites. Chewing a piece of meat, twice as large as a normal sized bite offends other at the table. Take small bites, chew them quietly with the lips closed and don't talk with food in your mouth.

If you care about having good table manners, that it.

Eye shadow does indeed look odd at 9 o'clock in the morning. It's best reserved for late afternoon and evening wear, when it makes a woman look chic and charming.

★ FOR THE LADIES ★

Daily Care and Exercise Pay Off

Stimulation is the key word to beauty for the mature woman, whether it applies to a facial cream, exercise or hair care. This attractive woman puts the word into practice when she uses a cream (left) which stimulates local circulation, tightens slack contours and smoothes the skin surface. She applies it with upward and outward strokes. To both stay young and look young, she works exercise into her daily routine. Here, she uses a beauty stretch device (center) which is actually an elasticized rope that helps to whip up circulation and tone the muscles. The mature woman must give her hair extra care. A daily workout with a hairbrush, softening shampoos and color tint rinses all help to keep her hair pretty and alive-looking. A fine non-sticky hair spray (right) keeps hair ends in place and helps to prevent dullness.

BY ALICIA HART

The nicest thing about being a mature woman in these modern times is that you can possess the poise and charm that come only with years of living, without paying the piper in loss of beauty.

Years ago, a woman was old at 40. Of course, lugging in the coal to light the stove, and boiling the wash for a family of 10 are scarcely aids to beauty. And there were few, if any, creams and lotions to soften roughened skin, and no leisure hours for the proper exercise to take the kinks out of a tired body

Today, any woman who cares about her appearance can be attractive. Household chores have been cut to a minimum by thousands of time and energy-saving gadgets. It's a rare woman who can't find the time to do the necessary stretching exercises that will help keep her figure trim and stimulate blood circulation.

Most of us, now, can easily afford the minutes necessary to relax and stretch in a warm, sudsy tub, and to be rewarded by the tingly "good to be alive" feeling we experience as a result.

Onevery cosmetic and drug counter are innumerable products that help us maintain a youthful appearance. And every mature woman should avail herself of the added years of beauty they can bring.

There are creams that work overnight to replace the moisture in the skin and help tighten slack contours. It's wise to remember, though, when massaging cream into the face and neck that the strokes should always be upward and outward. Downward strokes will cause facial muscles to sag.

Joy in the very fact that you're alive is one of the best rejuvenators. And this jjoy will come often to any mature woman who realizes that she has kept herself looking lovely through the years. If you don't use every wile at your command age will take its otll. It requires effort and a real interest in how you look to combat it.

It's not your skin alone that dries out with time. Your hair, too, will show a lack of luster if you don't work at keeping it soft and shining. Hackneyed though the advice may seem, don't use your hairburhs sparingly. The more you brush your hair, the more you stimulate the oil ducts that make it shine. Brushing won't ruin your wave. On the contrary, it will give it an added naturalness.

Use a softening shampoo, and if your hair is starting to turn gray and you don't like it, tinit it If your hair is already gray take advantage of the many rinses available that make gray hair look lovelier.

If you're smart enough to use all the beauty aids at your finger tips are careful of oyur good health, and dress siimply and smartly—foregoing the frills of youth—you'll find that your age has added to your loveliness.

The charm and graciousness that come with maturity are incomparable assets when you couple them with a chic choice of clothing and a glowing, youthful appearance.

SHIRLEY E.—Mother should come and stay with us.

MRS. D. G.—It's silly, but I can't part with the house.

SHIRLEY E.—My sister and brother and I are deeply concerned about our mother, who became a widow more than six months ago.

We are all married and have nice homes and are very eager to have Mother come and stay with us. She could live with any one of us, or change around, as she pleases.

Instead, she has been living in the old house and brooding over the past. The house was much too big for her, even when Dad was alive. A good part of it is just closed off.

What is the sense of her being so lonely in that big, empty house?

MRS. D. G.—I know it's silly, but I have lived in that house nearly 40 years and I can't quite bring myself to part with it.

It's true that it is lonely here and there are a lot of discomforts. Sometimes I can't get anyone to do all the necessary things around the house. I know the children think I'm crazy when I complain about it, but I'd rather have the house and complain than get rid of it.

Then there are my things. I've accumulated so many things over the years. The children don't think much of them, but I would want to keep them, and then I'd be a nuisance.

THE COUNCIL—All the experts are behind you, Mrs. D.G.!

The experience of many other widowed women has been that giving up a home has brought considerable grief.

Despite her children's welcoming arms, Mrs. D. G. will feel dispossessed when she walks in rooms that are not her own among things that are not her own. The "things" Mrs. D. G. has accumulated represent her tastes, her interests, her personality. They are her attachments to life.

Even if her children compromise and are willing to "tolerate" a part of her collections, Mrs. D. G. would have to cut down her ownership to suit their convenience. Im...

BOOBY PLAY IS SECOND BEST

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I AM indebted to Charles Coleman of Corpus Christi for today's hand.

It is more of a problem in metaphysics than in bridge and if you want to get real enjoyment out of it just look at the North and South hands only.

West opens the deuce of spades against the four-heart contract. East takes his ace and returns the four spot to West's king. West leads a club and East wins with the ace and returns the suit.

South wins with the queen and leads the jack of hearts. He hopes for a cover but West plays low without a quiver. He knows that South needs the ace of hearts to have his bids.

Now South goes up with dummy's king and leads the six spot. East plays a second low heart and if South is an unimaginative book player he finesses the ten of hearts.

The finesse is definitely the correct play from a percentage standpoint but if East and South are both good players South will go up with the ace.

Let's see why he makes that play. East is a good player and is marked with the queen of spades on the spade plays. If East held three hearts to the queen he surely would have led the queen of spades at trick four and forced dummy to ruff.

Therefore, East could not have started with three hearts to the queen. He also would have forced dummy if he held four hearts to the queen to guard against a possible coup Hence, Wet is marked with the queen of hearts and South's only play to make the hand is to drop it.

Lord Jeffery Broiled Salmon Is Bay State Treat

SALMON steaks, either fresh or frozen, have lots of good things done to them in this favorite recipe from Massachusetts

By GAYNOR MADDOX

In Amherst, Mass., we had one of the finest salmon dishes. We dined at the Lord Jeffery Inn, right on the edge of the beautiful Amherst College campus. Norman Enman, the manager, and our host, suggested broiled salmon, reminding us that the lordly salmon is a fish most Massachusetts cooks treat with loving care.

Certainly the Lord Jeffery salmon steaks had been treated that way. They were filleted into 8-ounce portions—tender yet properly firm and easy to flake with your fork. However, as it would be difficult for home cooks to buy salmon that way, we have changed the inn's recipe to Salmon steaks. Furthermore, because most of our readers will buy frozen steaks, we give instructions for them instead of the more difficult to get fresh salmon.

Broiled Salmon Steaks, Lord Jeffery (Makes 3 servings)

Three salmon steaks, fresh or frozen; ½ cup melted butter or margarine, ½ teaspoon salt, dash paprika, ½ cup crushed saltines, ½ cup crushed potato chips, lemon wedges, parsley.

If frozen steaks are used, let thaw on refrigerator shelf or at room temperature. Dip each steak into melted butter, seasoned with salt and paprika. Roll in combined crushed saltines and potato chips. Dip lightly in the butter again and place in preheated broiler 4 inches from source of heat. Broil until golden brown, about 5 minutes. Turn steaks carefully and broil 5-8 minutes more or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Brush lightly with any remaining butter and garnish with parsley and lemon slices.

Fashion Tips

If you want a guide to good fashion, follow the designs of the top trend designers carefully. These will show you what to look for in sound fashion when you go shopping.

The messy look haunts many women. It comes from too much jewelry, fussy accesssories, bad handling of color, hats full of feathers and bows and veiling. To look chic and neat, keep things simple.

There's a sound reason for having a wardrobe of shoes. They give you better service and longer wear if they're given a day's rest after each wearing. And, of course, you'll want many heel heights and colors.

Those nylon heel lifts are good buys for th busy woman who hasn't time for weekly visits to the shoe repairman. They cost more but last longer.

Don't decide that those shoes with the pointed toes are uncomfortable until you've tried them on. Actually, they're designed, so that they're very comfortable, even those with the needle toe.

No. 52

1. The Silhouette Contest is simple and easy to work. It consists of 60 silhouette drawings of widely known persons and 120 pictures. All you have to do is identify the silhouettes, not by name but by pairing them with pictures of the people you think are portrayed in the silhouette. Each person shown in silhouette will be shown by picture but not necessarily on the same day. In addition there will be 60 pictures of other persons who will not be shown in silhouette drawings. Thus you will have 120 pictures from which to make your 60 selections to go with the 60 silhouettes. Keep the 60 left over pictures. They will be needed for the final Silhouette Scramble.

2. The contest started Wednesday, January 15, 1958. Each day Monday through Saturday for 60 days, one silhouette and two pictures will be printed. After you have paired a silhouette with a picture, paste or in some way fasten the matching pair on a single sheet of paper. All 60 sheets are to be fastened together in order and each sheet should bear your name.

3. The Daily News will award $500 in cash prizes to the winners. There are no entry fees. The prizes are:

1. $250
2. $150
3. $100

4. The contest is open to all residents of Newfoundland with the exception of employees of The Daily News and members of their families. Not more than one prize will be awarded in any one immediate family.

5. The final silhouette and pictures will appear on Saturday, March 22, and with this set will appear a master score sheet on which you must enter the numbers of your silhouette-picture combinations. Do not send in your entries until all silhouettes and pictures have been published.

6. The contestant getting the greatest number of the 60 regular silhouettes correctly solved is automatically the winner of the first prize. Second highest score gets second prize, and so on.

7. A Silhouette Scramble will be published with Silhouette No. 60. This will consist of a number of silhouettes which are to be identified from the 60 pictures left over from the regular contest. This Silhouette Scramble will be used by the judges ONLY in case of ties. If ties exist in the regular contest, then those contestants making the best scores in the Silhouette Scramble will be declared winners. Contestants should submit with their completed entries a statement of 50 words or less on "The Feature I Like Best in The Daily News." These statements will be considered by the judges only in case there still are ties after the Silhouette Scrambles have been judged. Winners will then be determined by the aptness and originality of their comments.

8. Address entries to Silhouette Contest, The Daily News, Box 972, St. John's. All entries must be postmarked not later than Saturday, April 5, 1958. Entries must be sent with first class postage fully paid, since The Daily News cannot be responsible for entries delayed because of improper address or insufficient postage or for any other reason not received at The Daily News in due time.

9. By entering the contest, the participant agrees to accept the decision of the judges as final.

The Reward

SPANIARD'S BAY, March 11 —Uncle Jake needed a plug of tobacco so he gave the young fellow fifty cents to run to the store and fetch one for him, adding just before the youngster was out of earshot, "You may keep the change to buy a few sweets." Then while Aunt Lizer busied herself by putting some kerosene into the lamps, he poked the fire in the stove grate so that its cheerful illumination added warmth and coziness in the gathering dusk.

"I suppose we will get the power again in a few days," he said, just to make conversation; but as we had already made that supposition umpteen times already, it was a poor start on what we hoped might stretch into one of the old yarns he would tell as a substitute for some of our favourite television programmes. He didn't seem in the mood somehow.

Aunt Lizer finished cleaning her lamp chimneys and set them in their places. "I don't think I'll light them yet. It seems like old times sitting around in the twilight watching the firelight dance on the dishes in the shelves." Yet it was indeed cosy.

Just then the young fellow came back with the plug of Beaver and with the change, eight cents. "Take it, my boy," he urged when the boy felt reluctant, like all boys do, to take eight cents. "When I was a boy I didn't get a chance to take eight cents from anybody because nobody offered me that much. But how times have changed."

I sat back and waited, for that remark was one that I had been waiting for. If I held my peace Uncle Jake would not be digressed from his thoughts and I might get something to write about. A few puffs later, having got his thoughts in order he began.

"You don't remember Uncle Jimmy, do you?" and then not waiting for an answer went on. "Well, he was a fine old man. Used to keep a store on the corner, and was in his day, a man to be reckoned with. We children always respected him and in a way we feared him. Anything that he wanted done there was always a boy around to do it, and very often more than one boy. That was one thing Uncle Jimmy didn't like. He would not have three boys doing something that one boy could do better, as for example, fetching the horse from the hills.

"Now he thought a lot about that horse, so much so in fact that all the boys knew that to get on the good side of Uncle Jimmy all they had to do was to speak well of "Prince." When a time came that a boy was asked to fetch Prince from the garden or the hills, then he knew that Uncle Jimmy trusted him; and Uncle Jimmy kept a shop too.

"I could hardly believe my eyes one day when I saw Role and Nath coming out from Bakeapple Marsh with Prince by the bridle, because Role was one laddo, and Nath not one mite better.

"'What are you rascals doing with Uncle Jimmy's Prince?' I asked, and before the boys had time to reply I added, 'If Uncle Jimmy finds out that you had Prince he'd give you the thrashing of your lives.'

"'That's where you're wrong, Uncle Jake,' said Role. He sent me in to look for him. He never asked Nath to come; that was my idea. And something else; I'm not doing this for nothing.'

"Well, I didn't know what to say to that. I just couldn't swallow the idea of Uncle Jimmy's sending Role for the horse for one thing; and for another, I just could not imagine the old gentleman paying him for it, either. I was still wondering when as I looked up a few minutes later and saw the two laddos astride Prince going down towards Brazil's Hill at a neat clip.

"Sometime after that I saw Nath and inquired how they made out. "Oh, all right. We got off Prince's back before Uncle Jimmy could see us and I stayed around for Role to get my part of the reward for helping Role to catch the horse But you know Role; he went straight home.'

"'And do you mean to tell me that Uncle Jimmy really did give Role something?'

"'Yessir, and that he did.'

"The unbelievable had happened as far as I was concerned, so to satisfy my curiosity I asked, 'How much?'

"'He gave him a prune.'"

Appreciation

SPANIARD'S BAY, March 11 —Mr. Eliol Yetman who was a patient at the Grace Hospital for ten days of last month has great praise for the medical ad nursing staff of that institution. His stay was made pleasant by the kindness of friends, many of whom offered to donate blood on his behalf. Sufficient it is to say that he is grateful for and appreciates everything that was done for him in any way.

Spaniard's Bay

Jones—Holwell Wedding

SPANIARD'S BAY, March 11 —Miss Vivian Holwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Holwell of Herring Neck, and Constable Lewis Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jones were united in Holy Matrimony in a double-ring ceremony on St. Valentine's Day in St. Thomas' Church, St. John's, by the rector, Rev. S. J. Davies, B.A.

For her wedding the bride chose a winter white woollen suit, flecked with blue, with sky blue accessories. Her only jewellery were her silver and blue earrings, and she wore a corsage of pink carnations. Attending her was Mrs. Arthur Sturge, similarly attired but with a corsage of white carnations. The groom was supported by his brother Ted.

Following the marriage ceremony a reception for immediate relatives was held at Barney's restaurant, where the wedding supper was served. The lovely three-tier cake was baked by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. Roland Kean of St. John's.

Const. and Mrs. Jones are now residing at 6 O'Reilly Avenue. Constable Jones is attached to the Newfoundland Constabulary and Mrs. Jones is on the office staff of Dicks and Company.

Their friends in Spaniard's Bay wish them every happiness.

Obituary

MRS. MELINA BARRETT

SPANIARD'S BAY, March 11 —The oldest resident of Bishop's Cove, Conception Bay, Mrs. Melina Barrett, entered into rest on Friday, March 7. She was in her eighty-ninth year.

Although her younger days were filled with the daily work of raising a family and being a devoted helpmate to her husband, yet she found time to help with church and community matters, and took genuine interest in the events happening within her sphere. As a result she was an interesting conversationalist for her memory, like her body, was always alert. At eighty-five she could recall vividly incidents (that had since become history) with amazing accuracy. She delighted in attending the House of God to worship Him who through life had been her Guide. Hers was a true and living faith.

Mourning the loss of an affectionate mother are two sons, James in Spaniard's Bay, John in London, Ontario; two daughters, Susanna (Mrs. Eugene Menchions) of Bishop's Cove, and Miss Edith, with whom she desidde and who did all that was possible for her aged mother.

Her funeral was held on Sunday and the service was conducted by her faithful pastor, Rev. H. M. Batten. Interment was in the family plot in St. John's Cemetery.

"Eternal rest grant her, O Lord, and let light perpetual shine upon her."

BURTON REMARRIES

TORONTO (CP)—C. L. Burton, 82, well known businessman who headed the Robert Simpon Company during the years when it grew into one of the world's largest merchandizing empires, was married here 10 days ago to Joyce Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Richardson of Penticton, B.C.

Lucky Winner

SPANIARD'S BAY, March 11 — Mrs. James Gosse was the lucky winner on CJON's "Eleven For the Money" show on Monday of this week, and as a result she is richer by three hundred and fifty dollars. The show is sponsored by Aylmer's products.

That her friends are happy to hear of Mrs. Gosse's good luck is borne out by the many people who told us of it, so we join with them in offering her our cangratulations.

Last fall another local resident, Mrs. Fannie Noseworthy, was a winner. Her streak of luck netted her over two hundred dollars.

Hospitalized veterans at the D.V.A. Ward at the General Hospital had many hours of enjoyment during the past year viewing current movies which were screeend for them by voluntary workers at the Red Cross.

It cost thirty-one thousand dollars more to administer the Red Cross program in Newfoundland last year than was realized from all sources during the year's campaign for funds.

Graduates of the Red Cross Home Nursing Classes in Newfoundland last year gave more than seven thousand hours of service in hospitals and clinics and for many ill at home.

When a Portuguese fishing vessel was lost on the Grand Banks last year the Red Cross gave emergency assistance in the form of food and clothing to the fifty-five members of the vessel's crew.

Nearly nine hundred children received dental care last year on Newfoundland's west coast from the Junior Red Cross Dental Clinic.

It's a tiresome fact but it's true: being well groomed takes constant daily effort. The first time you let down is the moment you find yourself with runs in your stockings, a dipping hem and grubby gloves when you want to look your best.

43rd Wedding Anniversary

SPANIARD'S BAY, March 11 —Mr. and Mrs. Ebenezer Gosse will celebrate their forty-third wedding anniversary on St. Patrick's Day, having been married in St. Paul's Church, Harbour Grace in 1915. St. Patrick's Day is also Mr Gosse's birthday, so its really a double celebration. Congratulations come from their children, grand-children and from their hosts of friends.

Birthdays

SPANIARD'S BAY March 11 —Louis Roberta Gosse had a birthday on Wednesday, March 12, greetings come from Mommy, Daddy, cousins Wayne and Lois.

* * *

Sharon Hedderson had a birthday on Wednesday also. She and Lois Roberta were born on the same day in the same hospital three years ago. Happy birthday from Mommy, Daddy and sister Dawn.

* * *

On Friday, the fourteenth, Daphne Anthony will have a birthday. Best wishes come from Mom, sisters and brother.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. Donald Pike whose birthday is on Saturday, March 15.

Wayne Gosse (Lincoln) and Ralph Noseworthy have birthdays on Sunday, March 16. A happy day to them both.

* * *

On Monday, St. Patrick's Day, Jesse Smith, Jr., and Harold Roberts (8) will celebrate their birthdays. Many happy returns.

* * *

Mrs. Harold Noseworthy is wished by her family a very happy birthday on Tuesday, March 18.

* * *

Mrs. George Smith of Bishop's Cove will observe her birthday on Wednesday, March 19. She is presently a patient at the St. John's General Hospital recovering from recent heart surgery. We wish for her the happiest birthday ever.

* * *

We dare not forget our little godchild, Sonia Lexine Hutchings, who will be one year old on Friday, March 14, and we hope that her first birthday will be the beginning of many, many happy birthdays.

Hockey News

SPANIARD'S BAY, March 11 —In high school hockey Spaniard's Bay and Cupnds U.C. played their first game at the Harbour Grace Stadium on Monray afternoon. For the local squad it was their fourth game in the series and their win over Cupids placed them in second place in section one. In the first game played with Coley's Point U.C., Spaniard's Bay came out on the short end with a tally of 6-2. But the tide turned when they emerged victorious in a game played with Harbour Grace U.C., with the scoreboard reading 3-2. In the encounter with Harbour Grace R.C. the local aggregation sagged its opponents' net twice and the game ended with S.B. leading by one goal. Monday's win was the third straight one in a row when Ted Jones on an assist from Mark Sheppard in the first period and Mark, unassisted in the second period, shot pucks that slipped by the alert Cupids goalie. In the second period also Cupids shot one past Az Smith, but as there was no net benders in the third the honours went to Spaniard's Bay. There were no penalties in this game.

Of the four games played thus far, our school team has won three. The next game the team plays will be with Freshwater. Coaching the team this year is Mr. Lewis Gosse of the teaching staff.

Personal

SPANIARD'S BAY, March 11 —Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Byron (Bob Froude) to whom a son was born at Toronto on Sunday, February 23. Mrs. Froude is the former Miss Jean Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Barrett of Spaniard's Bay. Mr. Froude's hometown is Old Perlican.

Despite the weather the E. H. Vokeys spent a very pleasant day in St. John's with relatives.

Mr. D. W. Bragg, B.Sc., is here this week for his annual visit at Holy Redeemer School.

Constable Lewis and Mrs. Jones were here to spend the weekend with their folks.

A good pair of nail scissors, plus an equally good pair of nippers cost a bit of money, but is a wonderful buy. You cannot do a good job with poor tools and a good manicure is most important when it comes to lovely hands.

A Pat On The Back

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

For A Performance Worthy Of Special Mention During The Past Week

By "DEE" MURPHY

Like everyone else the sleet storm of March first had a big affect on us. We missed our Pat On The Back last Monday, so we are going to give credit to one person who would have been in last week's column if that sleet storm didn't happen.

LEO FAGAN

A PAT ON THE BACK TO LEO FAGAN, PROPERTY MANAGER OF THE ST. JOHN'S JUNIOR HOCKEY TEAM. Leo didn't score any goals, he didn't make any saves and he didn't break up any plays but he was outstanding as a member of the Junior "Caps". He turned in a wonderful performance. Not a single member of the All Newfoundland Junior Hockey Champs had any worries about his equipment. The night the City squad went to Bell Island Leo had the vast job of making sure that the team's sticks, goalie pads and 15 bags of personal gear was on hand at the Island Arena when the players arrived. It was all there. When the squad travelled to Grand Falls he had another big job on his hands and again he came in with flying colors. All season Leo has been performing for the St. Pat's teams and again he has been doing a terrific job. Property manager is one chore that never seem to draw any thanks but let any on the squads in any league lose a good property manager and they will soon know it. Leo Egan has been an outstanding member of the Junior "Caps".

MERV GREENE

PAT ON THE BACK TO MERV GREENE OF THE ST. BON'S SENIOR HOCKEY TEAM for a fine performance against the Bell Island squad in the exhibition last Saturday night. He had 26 saves and turned in a nice performance. Up to this year Merv had very little work in the local league as the Bluegolds ran up high scores in most of their games. This season however the other squad in the senior division have improved vastly and Greene has showed his true worth. Merv always plays a cool game. He rarely leaves his feet and can come up with the big stop when you need it. Saturday night he had several great saves. He stopped Bill Power and George Connors cold on two good tries and looked outstanding on blueline slap shots from Gordie Butler and Dick Power. The three tallies that did get behind him were not his fault. Two of them were screened and the other came from a pretty Bell Island play. Merv Greene has proved he is one fine goaler.

A PAT ON THE BACK TO DAVE NEFF OF THE PEPPERRELL FALONS HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL TEAM FOR his 21 point performance Sunday afternoon as he paced his team to another win in the City League. Dave has run up 121 points in six games so far this season to record a better than 20 point per game average. He hails from Salt Lake City, Utah and was a member of the squad that captured the championship in Portland in 1955. He started with the Macpherson entry in the local league in 1956 but moved to the Falons last season. He is a good rebounder and can make that important basket when you need it most. Most of his points come from layups or tip ins but he also has a fine hook shot and can set shot with the best of them. Dave is the son of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Stillman Neff of Pepperrell AFB and has travelled extensively in the United States with his parents on Air Force assignments. During the 1957 season he was top point getter for the Falons as they ran up ten straight victories to take the crown.

JOHN GALWAY

A PAT ON THE BACK TO JOHN GALWAY OF THE HOLY CROSS SENIOR BASKETBALL SQUAD which copped the City championship on Tuesday night. John who has played well all season, sparked the Crusaders to a 81-61 win over Guards as the Holy Cross team took the best of three games series two straight He was the only bright spot in the first half for his squad as he netted 16 of their 30 points and he added 13 points in the brilliant final stanza Crusader comeback to run his game total to 29 points. John is a team man and he sets up many of the baskets registered by the Holy Cross squad. He moves quickly for a big man and often contols the play as Holy Cross move the ball up the court. He works hard at all times, rebounds well and is deadly on free throws. He is one of the big reasons the Crusaders have been a big power in the basketball world of St. John's for the past few years.

GEORGE CREWE

A PAT ON THE BACK TO GEORGE CREWE OF THE GUARDS SENIOR BASKETBALL TEAM for his fine performance last Thursday night when he scored 26 points for his team. Guards lost the encounter 72-52 to Holy Cross at the Crusader gym, but George gave a nice exhibition of basketball savy in the losing cause. He got off to a slow start with only five points in the first half but he came back strong in the last stanza to net 21 and run his total to a fine 26. He is a tall boy who has been playing well at center for the Guards all season. He rebounds well, has a great tip-in shot and never gives up. George was fighting all the way in the last game. His efforts in the opening frame were mostly defensive but he broke out in the second half for a flurry of rebound and one hand push shots plus a couple of free throws to rack up his fine total. Most of his baskets all year have come from rebounds and the effort he puts into the game gives him his big advantage. Of course his height also helps. One of the big things that makes him one of the outstanding hoop artists in the City is his good sportsmanship.

Champions Declared In Town's Minor School Hockey Leagues

Little League

Grand Falls Athletic Director Wes Trainor has released the final standings of Grand Falls Minor School Hockey League and shows that the Black Hawks copped the Little League championship with the Cougars taking the Bantam League honours and the Ramblers winning the Midget League crown.

In the Little League the Blac Hawks led the league with eight wins out of ten games while they dropped only two for sixteen points edging out second place Red Wings by three points. The Wings came up with six wins and a tie while dropping three contests for thirteen points. It was a close battle for third spot in the standings with the Maple Leafs edging out the Canadiens by one point in the standings for third slot. The Leafs collected eleven points to the Canadiens ten. The Rangers and Bruins tied in last spot with five points each.

T. Sheppard was the top point getter in the Little League as he collected seventeen points, collecting all on goals. A Noftall was close behind with fifteen points having twelve goals and three assists. F. Rowe and B. O'Brien tied for third place in the scoring parade with fourteen points each. Five players tied in fourth place with thirteen points each.

The following are the team standings and individual scoring standings of the Little League at Grand Falls for 1958:

Bantam League

The Cougars had a hard battle on their hands to take the 1958 championship as they edged out the Cubs by a single point to claim the honours. The Cougars and Cubs each won eight games in their twelve game appearances but the Cougars came up with three ties to the Cubs two ties to hold the one point edge, 19-18. Third place in the standings went to the Bears who annexed thirteen points with five wins and three ties while the Lions collected nine points with three wins and three ties while the Tigers end up in the cellar position with only one point as they managed only to tie a game while losing the other eleven.

M. Green was the top point collector in the league as he connected for a total of thirty four points holding a five point lead over second placer J. Bragg. Green dented the twines for 25 goals and nine assists for a 34 point total while Bragg also had twenty goals but fell five short of Green in the assist department. Third place in the points department went to J. V. Kelly who was close on the heels of Bragg with 28 points. Kelly had twenty one goals and seven assists.

The following are the team standings and individual scoring standings of the Bantam League.

(five players, or more, with 9 points).

Midget League

The Midgea League at Grand falls was closely contested with the four teams of the league having to meet in sudden death games to decide the final standings. At the end of the regular schedule the Ramblers and Miners were tied with 22 points each while second place was shared by the Beavers and the Atlantics were tied with eight points each. In the sudden death games the Ramblers edged out the Miners 3-2 to cop the championship while the Beavers won over Atlantics by 3-0 to decide third place. It was one of the best Midgea League series held at the Papertown and interest was high throughout the schedule.

C. Ansyet was top scorer of the league with twenty four points to his credit while G. Hickman was runner-up with twenty two. Ansyet collected 19 goals and five assists for his 24 point total while Hickman bulged the nets for fourteen goals and eight assists for his total.

The following are the team standings and individual scoring standings of the Midget League for 1958:

FROM THE Press Box by NOEL VINICOMB

Maybe in this morning's sports page the lineup for the St. John's Bees, which will represent St. John's in the eastern semi-finals with Bell Island will be published. If not the lineup will be definitely in tomorrow morning. At the present time the Capitals in my opinion have the edge. This I say after seeing the Bell Island team in three exhibition games against city teams. Grant you Bell Island teams never did give all in exhibition games and it is difficult to valuate their strength.

* * *

Whether the City gets pass Bell Island or not is not the main reason for this column. It seems to become a yearly problem with our senior league around this time of year to come up with some sort of a joke. The biggest joke again this season is cancelling of the senior league series so that our Senior Capitals could get in some practice time before the semi-finals. The idea of cancelling the senior league activities for this purpose is commendable but the follow-up is ridiculous.

* * *

Immediately following the cancellation of league play individual teams of the league are deep into exhibition games. Already the Guards seniors have played two exhibition games with Bell Island and St. Bon's have played one. These three exhibition games were played the night of or prior to to Senior All Star practice. The Guards played at Harbour Grace on Friday night and then me the Bell Island squad here on Tuesday night. On Saturday night St. Bon's played Bell Island. An All-Star practice was held on Sunday and several St. Bon's players were missing because they played a hard game the night before. On Tuesday night the Guards players were absent because they had to play an exhibition game that night at the Arena.

Heavens knows that our All Stars had little time to practice together and the practice hours all came together. I was always under the impression that all exhibition games played by teams in the Hockey League had first to receive sanction of the League. Surely our league executive and team delegates didn't, after cancelling our own league favour of All-Star practices, give consent to the individual team play exhibition game... the practice period. I think knockles be rapped somewhere the line. If they did knuckles still should ped.

* * *

It was undivided attepractice sessions by our that brought the Cap Newfoundland Crown. dividual Junior club te to arrange exhibition the Junior teams duri practice session. I do much if we could ha pass Bell Island in t finals. It was hard pract full turnouts which bro the victory. To date the All-Stars have not show interest that was manife the Juniors.

Holy Cross Take 60-37 Victory Over S.A.C.

Holy Cross used a full court press to good advantage yesterday afternoon as they defeated Salvation Army 60-37 in a High School basketball game at the S.A.V. gym. The Crusaders, who dropped the contest before yesterday's to St. Pat's 40-30, jumped into the lead from the opening whistle and were never in any trouble.

Salvation Army had a zone defence going and stayed with it for the whole contest, but were unable to stop the sharp shooting Crusader forwards. Holy Cross had their man to man type of play working well and the S.A.C. squad found it hard to get any clear shots on the basket.

Eight Holy Cross players accounted for the Crusader scoring. Playing with a splint on one of the fingers of his right hand Ed. Shapter paced the winners with a fine 20 point output. Charlie Fowler came up with 10 Bob Pierson had 6 with Pat Cleary netting 7. Perchard picked up 5 with Mike Woods adding 4. Charlie Ennis got hot in the second half to record 6 points while Jim Fitzpatrick picked up the other 2.

Bob Rideout remained top point getter for the winless Salvation Army College team. He gave a fine performance and took most of their rebounds besides having 13 of their 37 points to his credit. Ralph Howell added 9 points with Gill throwing in 7 and Sweetapple getting 6. Geoff Bungay had the other 2.

It was 30-18 at the half way mark for the Crusaders with Holy Cross outscoring the losers 30-19 in the second frame. Ed. Browne and Art Templeman were referees for the encounter.

Basketball Is Nearing Death Slowly

By "DEE" MURPHY

The game of basketball is dying slowly but surely in St. John's. Holy Cross won the Senior hoop crown on Tuesday night when they defeated Guards in the final encounter of a series that saw an average attendance of around 25. Only four teams entered the league's schedule and the Crusaders walked away with the championship without too much trouble. Within the past few years two of the hoop leagues in the City have closed up shop.

Likely the biggest push to the death of basketball has been the Stadium. In the few years prior to its erection only three school teams played any hockey; they were Prince of Wales, St. Bon's and Bishop Feild; while the other 8 or so seats of learning directed their winter and spring athletics towards the hoop game. Now all of our city schools have hockey squads and something has to suffer. Basketball has taken the main thrust.

This season for the first time there is no Intercollegiate League. The Commercial circut passed away sometime ago. that leaves the High School, Intermediate, Senior and Grammar School leagues. Let's take them one at a time.

The Intermediate series opened first. It had five teams taking part. On the most part the games drew few small crowds; most of the fans were students from Memorial who dropped in to watch a few minutes of play betewen studies. All the games were played at the M.U.N. gym. In all a little over 40 players, took part in the series with only Holy Cross and Memorial doing any real practicing.

Next came the Christian Brothers Grammar School hoop series. There were two sections with three teams entered in each. Holy Cross took both crowns with only St. Pat's giving them any real trouble. St. Bon's had no gym on which to practice. The spectators who showed up for their games were for the most part pupils from the schools playing and there were not too many of them. The few adults who did watch the exhibitions were mainly the parents of the boys playing.

Then came the Senior League. Due to the efforts of Holy Cross mainly the series opened with four squads entered and M.U.N undecided. The Memorial team finally stayed out and the remaining four played three rounds with the top two teams meeting in the finals. Again Holy Cross took the championhip. Besides several parents of players, their girl friends, their brothers, a few sports reporters and team officials there were very few fans. When the games were played at the Memorial gym they drew the between studies students.

Now the High School division is in full swing with two and sometimes three games being scheduled every day. It looks like a walk away for the Pepperrell Falcons who are undefeated so far this season. Teams are getting a little better support as school pupils turn out when their squad is taking part but outside spectators are very few.

While the Intermediate and Senior leagues did declare their championships they had far from successful seasons. The Grammar and High School circuits will finish up far from breaking any attendance records. As is normal anyone in the sports reporting business is constantly being asked about winners in various leagues but since the playoffs of the Senior League has opened, only one person asked me to pick my winner. He had a son playing on the Holy Cross team and didn't miss a game all season.

Another thing pushing basketball to the grave is the lack of referees. Without the cooperation of a few G.I.'s stationed at Pepperrell it would have been near impossible to complete the Senior League. The same two or three Americans plus a like number of local senior players are officiating at the High School games. When the intermediate series was on it was found necessary to have members of a team in that section do some of the refeering.

If Guards and St. Pat's play hockey at the Stadium it is not unusual for 3000 fans to turn up but let the same two teams meet in a hoop contest at the Holy Cross gym and not more than 30 or 40 spectators will be around. Why? Well it could be that St. John's, was without good hockey for so long that the fans want to get all they can. Down through the years there have been a great many exciting basketball encounters that filled the various gymnasiums around town but unless something is done and done quickly basketball will die a slow but sure death with in the next few years.

NHL ROUNDU

TORONTO (CP) — Maurice (Rocket) Richard, the man with the golden scoring touch, fired two goals Wednesday night in leading Montreal Canadiens to a 5-3 National Hockey League victory over the stumbling Toronto Maple Leafs.

The 36 - year - old rightwinger, who returned two weeks ago after a long layoff with a cut achilles tendon, produced the first two Montreal goals as the league - leading Canadiens overpowered Leafs with their class.

The Rocket ran his goal output in a glittering career to 508 in regular season play.

Henri Richard, the Rocket's high - scorin g brother. Andre Pronovost and Jean Beliveau tallied the other Hab goals. George Armstrong, Gary Aldcorn and Gerry James scored for the fifth-place Leafs.

There is little possibility—unless Boston Bruins and Detroit Red Wings collapse in the stretch run—of Leafs catching a Stanley Cup playoff position. They have six games left in the 70-game schedule and trail Wings and Bruins by nine points.

CHICAGO (AP)—Dave Creighton scored all three goals as the Rangers Chicago Black Hawks 5 nesday night in Chicago.

Creighton put the Rangers ahead with his of the season midway opening period when he a shot from the side goal that bounced in minder Glenn Hall's sk

Black Hawk rookie Bo tied the score two minut tipping in a shot by Lorn son past Ranger goal Worsley.

The Rangers protested puck had not crossed line and Worsley was referee Eddie Powers a misconduct penalty.

Creighton came up in the second period. H ond goal evened the sco in the final frame put Ch was on hand at 6.51 of th to rap in a rebound Howell's shot to put the on top to stay.

The victory was the ninth of the National League season over last Chicago in 14 games.

City Takes Both Inter-Town Curling Titles

Both Teams Received Strong Competition Last Day's Game

By NORM ROCKWELL

Edgar Hickman's men's team and Jean Stentaford's ladies rink brought double honours to the capital yesterday as they clinched the Inter-Town Curling Tours for 1958.

Proving that it is not only in Brooklyn baseball that anything can happen and usually does, the underdogs in the Inter-town Curling Bonspiel came up off the floor to upset the dope in both ladies and men's divisions in the opening rounds of the final day's play. St. John's men needing only one more win for a perfect record and a clean sweep made the mistake of looking back and after taking an early lead against Corner Brook squad faded in the middle and final ends went into the tenth end one down but with last rock, which is not normally a bad position, a combination of misses gave up with them and Corner Brook counted a big four to win 12-7. This put St. John's, Corner Brook and Grand Falls in a three way tie for the men. In the ladies section the same pattern developed when both games went down in the morning draw to create a four way tie. St. John's rink, in spite of losing a four in the first end gave Bell Island only two more singles to win in a strong finish 12-6. In the other draw Grand Falls jumped into an early lead with three ends back to back, only to lose a four in the third end. The teams came into the last end all tied with nine each but Grand Falls were unable to capitalize on last rock and Ida Levitz and her crew were winners 10-9 in the most thrilling game of the day. This left all four teams with three wins and losses each.

Faced with two more draws, the Edgar Hickman rink from St. John's after a late start, tied up Corner Brook in the ninth end with a two and with last rock against them came up with a surprising five end to eliminate the Corner Brook squad and qualify for the final against Grand Falls. Also in the 2 o'clock draw the St. John's ladies made no mistakes in the game which eliminated Vi Pike's Grand Falls rink when they were leading by nine rocks going into the last end and won handily 12-3. Corner Brook ladies were pushed to the limit to put a stout-hearted Bell Island team out of the contest 9-8 when Kit Inkpen's rink scored a three in the final end.

This brought on the final with the St. John's men playing Grand Falls and the St. John's ladies against Corner Brook and both games turned out to be anti-climax after the hectic mgaes during the day. St. John's men took an early lead and were ahead seven to two at the end of the third head and the St. John's ladies led five to nothing at the third head. Neither game was completed as both were conceded at the ninth end, the final score for the men 13-4 and for the ladies 14-6. Curling fans in Corner were treated to an amazing day of games which kept interest at a dizzy pitch until the final draw. All concerned are of one opinion that it was the most interesting series in many years competition.

The winning rinks are deserving of all the praise they are certain to get for coming through so well in an extremely keen and well fought competition. For the losers there is always another year to build for and there is every indication that the rinks will be stronger and the battles keener and more interesting as the days are gone when any old combination of four curlers made an entry.

Yvon Durelle Finishes Training Meet Tony Anthony Friday Night

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Yvon Durelle, the New Brunswick fisherman who fights with the fury of an Atlantic storm, finished training Wednesday for his battle Friday night against New York's Tony Anthony.

"I'm going after him from the first, hard and strong," said Durelle, light heavyweight champ of Canada and ranked No. 2 among world title contenders. The televised bout over 10 rounds will be held at Madison Square Garden.

Durelle went to hishotel after finishing his workouts, scowling at the inactivity and restless at big-city livng, whch he doesn't lke.

LIKES HOME BETTER

"Give me Baie Ste. Anne any time," said Durelle, who owns a fishing flee t in that New Brunswick centre. "I can't wait to get the fight finished and get out of his place."

His training at Bobby Gleason's gym in the Bronx ended on a social note.

Dr. Joyce Brothers, the lamorous New York psychologist who has made a fortune on television quiz programs as a boxing expert, went to the gy m tv .... pert, went to the gym to visit the Canadian fighter.

The tension of training was broken as Yvon held the heavy punching bag for the female psychologist, who swung at it with a will—much to the delight of the fighter, his brother Placide, and his manager, Chris Shaban of Moncton, N.B.

Durelle, 26, fought the 23-year-old Anthony to a draw in Detroit last June 14. Many in the Detroit crowd figured that Durelle was the winnerand the draw was a raw decision.

sShaban and Durelle are bitter that despite this showing, Anthony, now rated third after Durelle, was given a fight against champion Archie Moore, who beat the New Yorker by a technical knowkout Sept. 20 in Los Angeles.

WILL CHASE TONY

"Anthony will be hard to catch this time—he'll be trying to get away," said Durelle. "But no matter, he'll have to stopand fight sometime.

"I'll go after him hard from the start, perhaps harder and faster than the other time. I'll punch harder.

"I'm hoping to get him before the 10th but I'm not going to name the round."

Durelle was fighting in Madison Square Garden for the first time when he battled Washington's Clarence Hinnant to a seventh-round TKO Jan. 31. He thus avenged a TKO at the hands of Hinnant earlier, mostly because of cuts over the eyes.

Durellefought 12 times in 1957, winning 10, drawing one and losing one—to Hinnant. He has won 72of 93 fights, with 18 setbacks, twe draws, one no-contest. He has knocked out 37. Anthony feught only three times in 1957, against Durelle, Moore and Chuck Spieser, his one win.

The fisherman spends his time in New York at a hotel near Central Park, where he does his roadwork. Shaban, Placide and Yvon while away the evenings by playing cards — "auction" being their favorite game.

Civil Service Statistics

Abby Cares of C.N.R. has 23 goals and 10 assists to lead the scorers in Civil Service Hockey with 33 points and holds a five point edge over the second place total getter. Ron Furlong of Council has 17 markers and trails up 11 scores for 28 points while Charlie Lewis of Council, Charlie Bhnisch and Ed. Butler of Buckmasters are all tied for third with 24 points. Carew's 23 goals top this department while Furlong and Butler both have 11 assists for the leading scorers in the "setting up" column.

Boat Race At Quid Vidi On St. Patrick's Day

Two crews which participated in the Annual Regatta in 1957 will take to the boats early this year and will compete in a race while other oarsmen are relaxing after the 1957 season.

A race is scheduled to be held at Quidi Vidi Lake on St. Patrick's Day between Harry Summers trucking crew and CNR Freight Shed. Summers' crew issued a challenge to the CNR Freight crew and they have accepted and the race is now scheduled for four o'clock St. Patrick's afternoon.

For many years horse racing was the scene at Quidi Vidi Lake but this year with the mild weather activities at the lakeside will be somewhat different and if the race goes ahead as scheduled it may set a record for boat racing at the Lake.

LONDON (CP)—Awards totalling £100 are offered to firemen by the Fire Brigades Union for ideas ensuring greater safety in the use of breathing apparatus.

Bees Hold Workout

The St. John's entry in the "B" division of All-Newfoundland hockey playoffs held their second last practice before they meet Bell Island on Friday night with 22 players working out under coach Meeker at the Stadium last night. They put in a hard two hour drilling with Meeker and Jack Vinicombe in charge of things.

Three goalies, six defencemen and thirteen forwards were on hand for the practice. Mike Woodford, who has been working on a line with Ted Gillies and Noel Sparrow, was at the Stadium but didn't take to the ice. Wally MacDonald, who isn't registered with the City squad and Charlie Walsh, who will likely be out of action for the next few days due to a shoulder injury took turns in Woodford's left wing spot. Walsh told the Daily News that his shoulder didn't hinder him too much in practice but he will not be able to play in the first two games. He did say however that he will be ready to go into the third game of the semi-finals if Meeker gives him the nod on Monday night.

Ray Bowe centered a string with Lloyd Kelly and Tom Murphy as wings. The other lines were changed during the night. One combination had Junior Jim Byrne playing with Ralph Rowsell and Warren England while Bill Gillies, Lloyd Cooke and George Philips were on another line. Later in the practice England, Cooke and Bill Gillie, got together.

Irv Walsh, Ron Skirving and Merv Greene all took their turn in goal and all performed well so St. John's will have no netminding troubles. On defence Hugh Fardy, Len Coughlan, Bern Goobie, Max Howell, Noel Hutton and Carl Browne all saw action.

The workout drew over 300 fans and all seemed to agree that the St. John's squad is looking real good. The team will meet the Bell Island team at the Bartlett Memorial Arena on Friday and Saturday night, in the first two games in their best of five East Coast semi-finals with the next three on counters, if necessary, taking place at the St. John's Stadium. The winner of this series will play the winner of the Grand Falls—Gander series in a best of seven games finals for the "B" crown.

Semi-Finals To Be Played On Bell Island

Vince Rossiter, President of the NAHA, told the News late last night that the East Coast semi-finals of the "B" Division of the All-Newfoundland Hockey playdowns between St. John's and Bell Island will go ahead as scheduled.

With the electric power on Bell Island off for over a week it was thought that the ice on the Island would not be ready for the first game of the best of five series on Friday night but the executive of the NAHA has been informed that the power was restored to the Island yesterda y evening and that the ice surface will be in tip-top condition for Friday's encounter. The last three games of the series, if necessary will take place at the St. John's Stadium.

Pee Wee Hockey

Murphy Leads Hurricanes Into Second Place

By WILSON BUTLER

A three goal performance by Pat Murphy told the story for the Hurricanes as he moved his team into second place in the Airforce Division standings with a 3-2 win over the North Stars in the first Pee Wee game yesterday afternoon. In the second game the division leading Signallers were handed their first defeat of the season as they bowed 2 to 1 to the Black Watch, and in the final game Briton got their first point of the season as they battled to a scoreless tie with the aVnguard.

HURRICANES VS. NORTH STARS

Hurricanes led by the hat trick of Pat Murphy, took over second place in the Airforce Division as they nosed out the North Stars 3 to 2, having to come from behind in the first period for the win.

Don French had given the North Stars the lead at the five minute mark in the first period with an unassisted marker, but Murphy tied the score at 7.10 with the first of his three goals, this one unassisted, and with less than two minutes left in the period tired his second to give the Hurricanes a 2 to 1 lead, with five mixutes gone in the second half Murphy had widened the gap for the Hurricanes to 3 to 1, this time assisted by Gerald Goodyear but at 6.10 the Hurricanes struck again as Ronald Seaward counted assisted by Billy Lowe to round out the scoring in the game with the Hurricanes 3 and the North Stars 2.

SIGNALLERS VS. BLACK WATCH

In the second game the Signallers still leading the Army Division were handed their first defeat of the season as they were nosed out 2 to 1 by the Black Watch. Harris Flight was the big gun for the Black Watch firing both their goals unassisted while Gerald Warren netted the lone Signallers tally.

BRITON VS. VANGUARD

In the final game of the afternoon the Briton cellar dwellers in the Navy Division moved into a fifth place tie with the Hood as they registered their first point of the season by holding the Vanguard to a scoreless tie. As a result of the tie Vanguard now have two points which is good for fourth place.

Referee for the games was Dan Puddester. Lines were Ralph Chancey and Ronny Goodyear.

Next games are scheduled for Friday afternoon when at:

4.15—Cansos vs. Jets.

4.55—Hurricanes vs. Liberators.

Players are asked to make a note of this game at 5.35 p.m. Nelson vs, Hool, and at 6.10 Signallers will meet the Infantry (this game is subject to change and players are asked to watch the NEWS).

On Saturday morning at:

8.00—Repulse vs. Hool.

8.30—Commandoes xs. Infantry.

9.00—Magnificent vs. Victory

Exhibition Rain Hampers Games

By The Canadian Press

Rain made a shambles of Wednesday's exhibition baseball schedule but not before New York Yankees went down another defeat.

The elements washed out five games and shortened two others. St. Louis Cards handed the Yanks their fourth setback in five starts 6-0 in a six-inning contest. Chicago White Sox whipped Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1 in seven innings.

The only full-length games were Cincinnati Redlegs edged Detroit Tigers 9-7 and Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Milwaukee Braves 4-3.

Washed out were Baltimore and San Francisco at Phoenix, Ariz., Washington and Boston at Sarasota, Fla., Cleveland and Chicago Cubs at Mesa, Ariz., and Kansas City and Philadelphia at Clearwater, Fla. The Red Sox held a 5-1 lead in the top of the fifth against the Senators and Kansas City had scored five runs in the top of the first against the Phillies before action in those tilts were halted.

The Yankees collected only one hit—a third inning single by rookie rFitz Brickell—off the combined efforts of Vinegar Bend Mizell and Bob Miller. The Cards battered Bob Turley and Bobby Shantz to record their third victory in five efforts.

Nellie Fox, a pinch-hitter, drove across two of the White Sox' runs while Tito Francona, Sherman Lollar and Don Prohovic heach had one rbi. Jim Derrington was credited with the victory while Charles Wh amy Douglas lost for Pittsburgh.

Rookie catcher Dutch Dotterer blasted a couple of home runs for Cincinnati and Harvey Kuenn, Al Kaline and Bill Taylor homered for Detroit. The Redlegs collected 16 hits off four pitchers.

Home runs by Hank Aaron and Ed Matthews accounted for all of Milwaukee's runs. The Dodgers got the winning run in the ninth, making Ron Negray the winning pitcher and Don McMahon the loser.

Patrician Ladies Auxiliary Holds First Election

On February 4th, at St. Patrick's Hall Schools, a group of ladies representing mothers of present and past pupils and also including friends of St. Patrick's Hall gathered to discuss the feasibility of forming a Patrician Ladies Association. The meeting was called to order by the President of the Patricians Association, Mr. Frank Wall who in conjunction with the Reverend Brother D. F. Nash presided over the election of officers.

Nominations were received for the office of President and the following ladies were nominated:—

President — Mrs. Olive O'Toole, proposed by Mrs. Godson; Seconded by Mrs. Tobin.

Mrs. Repouf, proposed by Mrs. Jacobs; Seconded by Mrs. DeLacey.

Vice President—Mrs. Fagan, proposed by Mrs. Grouchy; Seconded by Mrs. Adams.

Secretary—Mrs. Val Duff, proposed by Mrs. Murphy; Seconded by Mrs. Angel.

Treasurer—Miss Mary Walls, proposed by Mrs. Fagan; Seconded by Mrs. Tobin.

Mrs. A. Byrd, proposed by Mrs. Sullivan; Seconded by Mrs. Lawlor.

Mrs. Raines, proposed by Mrs. DeLacey; Seconded by Mrs. Edney.

Following nominations, The Reverend Brother D. F. Nash conducted the election which resulted as follows:—

President — Mrs. Olive O'Toole.

Vice President—Mrs. Fagan.

Secretary—Mrs. Val Duff.

Treasurer—Miss Mary Wall.

Immediately following the election of Officers, the executive met with The Reverend Brother D. F. Nash, and arising out of the meeting it was unanimously decided that Mrs. Madeline Kennedy be appointed Honourary President of the Patricians Ladies Association.

The next meeting of the Ladies Association will be held on Thurday, March 13th, at St. Patrick's Hall Auditorium.

Part 2
Chapter 36

By ADDISON BOWN

ESCAPE FROM GERMANY

This article tells the story of a boy from Lance Cove who was a prisoner of war in Germany. It might be more properly entitled "Escapes in Germany," for Private Aeneas Rees, whose adventures are told here, made five attempts in all to escape from captivity. He was taken prisoner in 1915 but did not make his final, and successful bid for liberty until the closing months of the war, crossing the border into Holland after the signing of the Armistice.

Aeneas Rees was one of the soldiers from Bell Island who served with the Canadian forces during the war. He was born and reared at Lance Cove, his father being descended from the mechanic who came out from the Old Country well over a century ago to work in the ship-building yard of the Pitts family who were turning out vessels for the foreign trade in the early years of the last century.

On his mother's side, Aeneas was descended from the pioneer family of Bell Island, the Normores, his mother being a sister of the late Frank Normore.

Mechanical skill had always been a hereditary trait of the Rees, and it is not surprising that he should follow in the footsteps of his forbears and take up shopwork in the machine shop of the Scotia Company. From there he went on to take marine engineering and for a time served as second engineer on the coastal steamer Argyle. In 1913 he went to Montreal and was employed first with the Dominion Bridge Company and later with Vickers, a branch of the famous firm that turned out the Vickers-Vimy biplane in which Alcock and Brown made the first non-stop crossing of the Atlantic from St. John's in June, 1919.

He was employed with the Vickers Company at the outbreak of the war, and on Aug. 6, 1914, enlisted in the Royal Montreal Regiment which formed part of the First Overseas Division of the Canadian Army.

Canada's First Division sailed for England at the end of September. They were joined off Cape Race on the first Monday of October by the Florizel carrying the Blue Puttees of Newfoundland. The convoy of 33 ships then proceeded to their destination.

After completion of training on Salisbury Plain, the Canadians crossed over to France in February, 1915. Their ship was torpedoed in the Channel but Aeneas Rees was among those who escaped and landed safely in France. He saw service in several engagements and then had the misfortune to be wounded and captured in April at the Battle of Yyres in which he served as a machine-gunner.

Taken first to an hospital at Roulers where his wounds were treated, he was later transferred to the prison camp at Giesen. On his return home after the war, Private Rees told a story of the brutal treatment and near starvation in the prison camps of Germany. Nothing can be gained by repetition of the details at this time. While at Giesen the prisoners experienced the results of a kindly act by the American ambassador, Mr. Gerard, the author of a book which was widely read during the war, "My Four Years in Germany." Mr. Gerard saw the prisoners working in the cold of winter without sufficient clothing and insisted that overcoats be issued to them.

From the Giesen prison camp Rees was moved to Frankfurt-on-Main and then to Rolenheim where he received four months in close confinement for not being able to work in the brickkiln to the satisfaction of his guards. He was then sent to Vehnemoor where each prison gang of eight men had to cut 30,000 blocks of peat a day.

Private Rees made his first attempt to escape from the prison camp at Freistadt, being one of six prisoners who crawled through a hole under the wire fence and got as far as the River Ems near the Dutch border before they were recaptured. His second attempt was made alone but it had no better results. He was recaptured when brought to pay by bloodhounds within sight of the frontier of Holland. For this he was put on public exhibition and sentenced to six weeks' close confinement.

His third attempt to escape was made from a salt mine in Westphalia. He had noticed that the last "trip" of loaded salt cars from the mine was not run inside the prison fence but was left on a siding outside until morning. Some Italian prisoners buried him in the salt, placing boards over his head and using a piece of rubber hose to give him air. After dark he left the car and set off for Holland but was again recaptured.

He was then moved deeper into Germany and set to work digging drains at a prison camp near the mouth of the Elbe. Again he escaped and again he was recaptured. He was now a marked man and the Germans sent him to Berlin where he was tried for his life by a courtmartial conducted by the Kaiser's officers. He escaped shooting by showing the marks of the beatings he had received and was sentenced to solitary confinement. This time his prison was a narrow cell seven feet long by 3½ feet wide. The floor was of concrete and the door of solid plank strengthened with iron so that escape was impossible. There he spent the last Christmas of the war, alone, far from home and loved ones.

Transferred after several months to another cell, this time with an earthen floor, he dug his way out into the prison yard with his bare hands. A barbed wire fence with live wires now barred the way to freedom. Under cover of one of the heaviest downpours of rain he had ever experienced, he used a stone to dig a hole under the fence and so made his escape.

Profiting from his previous experiences he walked in the opposite direction from the Dutch border. For 22 days he wandered on gradually circling back in the direction of Holland. It was the Autumn of 1918 and the harvest of the fields and orchards supplied him with food. At last he sighted the boundary fence between the two countries. Carefully watching the movements of the sentries, he took advantage of a gap between them and slipped through.

He had finally won his way to freedom, only to find that the war was over.

"THE ENEMY BELOW" WITH ROBERT MITCHUM

A tense and exciting sea drama, "The Enemy Below," opens tomorrow at the Paramount Theatre and the audience will be held in a vise of suspense as each succeeding scene unfolds on the screen.

Producer-Director Dick Powell in his first effort at Twentieth Century-Fox, has given this story of a duel-to-the-death naval battle between a U.S. destroyer and a German submarine such expert handling that it can be rated one of the best pictures of its type ever filmed. Many service pictures have come out of Hollywood but none have had the vividness of dialogue, action and technical perfection that makes "The Enemy Below" almost classic.

The old and accepted Navy axiom that a fast-moving destroyer and the silent, but deadly, submarine are evenly matched furnished the motivation for the super-charged sea chase in the picture. But the calibre of the respective commanders of the two vessels provides the human drama. Their matching of wits and maneuvering for advantage to deal the death blow is fascinating to watch. Here is real, spine-tingling drama.

As the skipper of the American destroyer escort on patrol duty in the South Atlantic, Robert Mitchum is at his very zest. Curt Jurgens upholds his reputation as one of Europe's top stars in his debut as the commander of the German U-Boat. The performances of the co-stars are worthy of Academy Award consideration. They breathe vitality into every scene.

ARI Hedison, who also makes a debut in this picture as the executive officer of the destroyer, turns in an excellent performance. Other members of the supporting cast, Theodore Bikel, Russell Collins, Kurt Kruger, Frank Albertson and Biff Elliot are superb. The splendid performances are a credit to the genius of Dick Powell. He firmly establishes himself as one of today's great creative talents.

The final scenes in which the destroyer rams the submarine and the two ships sink give "The Enemy Below" a smashing climax.

WOLF CREEK

By W. Edmunds Claussen

Copyright 1957 by W. Edmunds Claussen. Distributed by NEA Service

THE STORY: Trouble looms along Wolf Creek as squatters move onto Block S land. Into this trouble rides Dave Sharadin, coming home from the Civil War. But Dave realizes his chief fight will be with Taylor Kains, his father's foreman, who hates Dave and resents his return.

XVII

THE ranchyard looked peaceful but it was a false security, with a pressure of danger that reached Dave.

Ferris murmured softly beside him, "You an' me better not act friendly from here on."

It was a sound idea, Dave thought, as he shot a sideward glance into the shadows pooled down thick and opasue by the hills. A Block S man emerged from the barn to challenge them. Another stood like a predatory animal in the gloom of the corral. Both were watching craftily, both held their hands on their gunbelts.

"Whatt kicked you?" the man in front said and snapped his glance over Ferris. This was Clay Creen, who had emptied his pistol when the crew rode away from Wolf Creek.

Ferris jerked his head towards Dave. "I sort of give him a workin' over."

An indulgent smile quirked Creen's mouth. "ooks more like you stood up against a tree and let him kick you."

"I brought him in," Ferris objected.

"He's still wearin' his gun."

"If you want to see him naked," Ferris said, "suppose you start undressin' him."

When the man' gaze shifted to him, Dave said, "Where'll I find Bluett?"

Clay Creen was darkly stained by wind and sun and had cruel, hooded eyes. Dave was conscious of the second man drifting silently closer, flanking him.

"This one's Creen," Ferris said belatedly. "That's Morgan."

Morgan ignored the introduction and Dave understood Ferris had made it purely by way of warniing. Morgan was the gun artist of this crew, a deadly, final reaper of men's lives.

"Wants to see Sharadin," Creen said in a mocking jeer.

"He's in there with Kains," Morgan answered, "so why not?"

"Claims to be the old man's son," Ferris explained.

Morgan answered that with cold indifference. "I'll bow when Kains tells me—maybe not then. Let him go inside."

Dave didn't remove his glance from Morgan. He sensed Creen was ready, too, for any suspicious action on his part.

BLUETT SHARADIN spoke to Kains with a stubborn edge to his voice. "Keep away from Prole. Don't start shoving until this man has given his wife burial."

"You're gettin' soft!"

Bluett nodded. Prode should have been brought to his knees in the beginning. The others who had tried to steal Block S range had not been given this chance to root themselves fast. But Bluett Sharadin, while riding from his north range, had chanced upon Prole and his wife in their wagon. Katherine Prole had been ill that day, her skin pale as clay. Some whispy fragment in her makeup had carried him backward through the years until his mind was comparing her with another woman; a faithful, loving wife whose memory he could never outlive.

He tried reason with his foreman, though irritation still ruffled him. "Through the years we've worked together well. We've built the empire on which we set out. I dislike trouble coming between us, Tay. Ignore Prole until I give the word."

Kains said slyly, "Suppose the boys get out of hand?"

"That would be a mistake. I've always paid for a mistake—I expect those who work for me to do the same."

"How would I pay?"

"You'd be finished, Tay. I'd throw you off Block S."

Kains laughed outright. "I leave here and the gold hunters and nesters will come down on you like wolves."

"You'd lose too, Tay," Bluett said. His hands spread wide on his desktop. "A good deal of what Dave is, is because of your training. It was always as though he was in part your boy, Tay. I plan on Block S going to each of you in halves."

Kains was leaning closer across the desk. His face darkened. Thickly he said, "Half won't be enough."

BLUETT watched in vain for a break in Kains' expression, for a softening in the sutbborn lines about his mouth. He saw now with bitter clarity that there could be no compromise with Taylor Kains.

"Might as well face it, Bluett," Kains murmured harshly. "It's got to be all or nothing."

Kains' words trailed off in a sucking breath as a warning fell against him, a sensation that was like a current that began in his inner core and worked outward forming little ridges of chilled flesh beneath his skin. In that bleak moment he could have named the man stepping up behind him. Even before he turned and looked into Dave's face he knew Dave was home.

Dave read in that firse revealing glance how much his father had wilted while Taylor Kains seemed to have risen both in stature and boldness.

"So you're home? It took awhilee" Bluett said.

Momentarily Dave believed he saw relief crossing the old man's face. But there was no welcome in Kains' voice as he said: "You kill enough Yankees?"

Dave held his eyes on the swart face, and saw plainly how it would be with Kains.

At City Hall

the Highroads department, because something should be done about the road.

The question of sanitation is equally serious, he said. The people living at the top have no means of sanitation and dump their sewerage down the cliff. This is not a situation which developed yesterday, he said, and had been there for many years.

The city should work with the Department of Health to see that night soil in this area is put out for collection, for the cost of putting sewerage disposal pipes in the area is prohibitive, the Council agreed, and that the only solution was to move the residents out of the area eventually, for it would be infinitely cheaper to do this than to try and bring sanitary services to the homes there.

The road was built by the Americans to the Top Battery and is used by a considerable number of people. The Council decided to write to the Minister of Highroads to see what can be done.

The Public Health division is already aware of the unsanitary condition on the road and in the area, Mr. Higgins said.

BECK'S COVE EXITS

Councillor Henley asked about the situation at Beck's Cove where at low tide and an easterly wind "the situation is fantastic."

The city engineer said that in the Harbour development report these pipes will be extended, but full details have not yet been worked out. Reference has been made to this, the engineer said, in the Public Works report.

BANNERMAN ROAD

Councillor Carnell asked about the condition of Bannerman Road and what was to be done for some of the potholes and the top of Cochrane Street. "That's not a condition that's a disgrace," Mr. Higgins said.

The city engineer said that he hoped this year to take off the soil on Bannerman Road, which is like farm soil, and have the road properly surfaced.

The asphalt plant, which was in continuous operation for eleven months, has been closed for repairs, the city engineer said, and he hoped the plant would be in operation again by Tuesday, then the streets department could quickly get at some of the repair work if the weather conditions were suitable.

PEDESTRIAN LIGHT

A short phase pedestrian light will be requested for the junction of Bennett Avenue and LeMarchant Road.

Councillor Nightingale told the Council that the amber light to warn motorists was useless for pedestrians and at peak hours it was practically impossible for anybody to cross the street at this intersection. He moved that the Council request the traffic commission to set up a regular short phase light, synchronized with the light at the Grace Hospital, at the junction of Bennett Avenue, LeMarchant Road. Councillor Carnell seconded, and the Council passed the motion.

FRINGE AREA BUILDING

Councillor Carnell brought up the question of people wishing to build houses and business property in the fringe area, particularly in the Torbay Road area.

After discussion of this question the Council decided to get in touch with the Department of Health and the Department of Municipal Affairs, and find out what can be done, so that the Council can deal with applications from people in these areas.

A great many homes in these fringe areas now using septic tanks could connect with the city sewers, but if these people are outside the city limits the Council cannot insist that these homes be connected with the sewer, but the Department of Health can do in this case.

PLANS

The following plans were approved:

A. G. Henley, Lot No. 1 Carpasian Road, dwelling.

Samuel Randell, Lot No. 73 James Lane, bungalow.

John P. Greene, Lot No. 40 Roche Street, bungalow.

Estimated value $49,000.00.

SAVE DIGNITY

EDINBURGH (CP) — Edinburgh Castle will not be draped with banners publicizing an anti-tuberculosis campaign. Residents claimed it would be "undignified."

GAY BIRD

LONDON (CP) — A Festive Panager, gaily-colored bird from south Brazil, has been presented to London Zoo. It is the first of its type on show there.

USEFUL PROJECT

EASTBOURNE, England (CP) A 60-foot-long greenhouse is being built by boys at a school here. It will be used as a science room where the boys can study soil heating and chemical cultivation.

LOOKING AHEAD

LINCOLN, England (CP)—An oak sapling given to Lincoln Cathedral is expected to provide timber for repairs in 200 year's time.

MORE SAVINGS

LONDON (CP)—England and Wales had 169,616 savings groups at the end of January, 2,148 more than in December.

SPECIAL RESCUE

KISLINGBURY, England (CP) Firemen were called to help save 14 sheep marooned by floods in a field in this Northamptonshire district.

Big Support For Miller

Three of the men who Leonard Miller expects will be his constituents after March 31st chat happily with the Liberal candidate in St. John's West during a recent campaign tour as Mr. Miller explains some of the Liberal policies, including special loan aid for the fisheries and income tax cuts of 25 percent (TOP). Liberal candidate Miller got a big reception as he campaigned through St. Mary's Bay with Dr. Jim McGrath, the provincial Minister of Health. Its just one small indication of the swing to Mr. Miller in St. John's West.

Hillvew Has Two Distingushed Visitors

HILLVIEW, March 6th — On Sunday, March 2nd., Hillview had the pleasure of the arrival of two distinguished visitors in the persons of R. W. Grand Mistress, Hilda Ford, and Sister Edith Avery, P. Mistress of Daughters of Humber and Past Preceptress of Crystal Chapter, Humbermouth.

Sunday afternoon they visited Mrs. Alan Baker, sister of the Past Mistress. In the night they attended church and after service visited with Mr. W. J. Frost and enjoyed coffee and music. In the morning flags were flying in honour of the Grand Mistress. In the night a meeting of L.O.B.A. was held in the 1st and 2nd Degree, with Sisters attending from Queen's Cove, North West Brook and North Harbour. Presentation was made to R.W. Grand Mistress and P.M. E. Avery by Sister Benson, who gave a short speech, which was responded to by the two recipients. Sister Avery was very pleased to attend the meeting and to visit her home town.

Flags and paraphernalia were dedicated by the R.W. Grand Mistress. Solos were rendered by R.W. Grand Mistress and P.M. Avery and Sister Marion Avery. The meeting was thoroughly enjoyed by all who attended.

A banquet was hed after the meeting under the leadership of W.M. Mary Frost.

The next day in spite of inclement weather, the visitors left for Shoal Harbour accompanied by Sister Marion Avery and two Sir Knights of the Black Preceptory. Their short stay in Hillview will be long remembered.

Three Million People Are Expected

t is expected that in 1958, the Tercentenary year, some three million pilgrims and visitors will pass through St. Ann de Beaupre. That would be proof, if proof should be needed, that "St. Ann de Beaupre Basilica is somehow the paternal home of all Canadians", as Cardinal Villeneuve once wrote.

But, will the faithful and the tourist of to-morrow, when they enter the sumptuous Basilica as it now stands—a veritable ex-voto to the piety of a whole people, but still unfinished after thirty-five years of ceaseless labor—think of the multitude which has preceded them since three hundred years, and that "The Virgin to her Mother leads her children?"

Will they feel a communion of abandon and confidence with their predecessors? Will they dream of restoring in thought the venerable churches of the past, fragrant with the aroma of popular devotion?

Piece By Piece Construction (1658-61)

The first historical church, which motivates the Tercentenary, dates from 1658. First church forsooth! It would be nearer the truth to write first chapel.

Started in 1658, the chapel of St. Ann-du-petit-cap (so called in the official acts until 1840 because of a little Cape situated at about 10 arpents West of the actual Basilica) was never finished.

The high tides of the time had not been considered which reached as far as the chapel. A new site had to be found on "the big slope," where the cemetery lies today, besides the Memorial Chapel. And again it was Etienne de Lessart, the donor of the first land for the first church who, proud to keep the church on his concession, gave the needed land.

Framework Construction (1661-1676)

Besides the primitive chapel, the church of 1661 took Basilica proportions! It was, think of it, forty feet long! It was done in framework with 8" x 4" lumber beams laid certically at every foot or so and the space between was filled with stones and mortar. The exterior must have been finished when the abbe Morel came from France in 1661 and was entrusted with the ministry of the Beaupre Coast. It was this mobile minister of the cult who, when he was later made resident curate, finished this modest temple. This second church was replaced by a third in 1676.

Stone Construction (1676-1876)

It was this church which, enlarged twice, in 1694 and in 1787, served the pilgrims and visitors as well as the parishoiners for two hundred years. tl has disappeared today although it was partly integrated into the structure now identified as the Memorial Chapel.

The ancient benches, however, were wisely kept; together with the original altar and pulpit, they form a keepsake of the past which helped keep forever strong the chain of devotion from the origins until today.

The First Basilica (1876-1922)

Thus is called the church the corner stone of which was blessed on August 24th, 1872, and open to the cult on October 17th 1876. The devotion to St. Ann had spread to such an extent that its shrine had attracted the attehtion of the Popes.

Leon XIII, taking into account the ancientness of the site and the renown of the pilfrimage, conferred on it, on May 5th, 187, the title of Basilica with full corresponding honors.

In its turn, this Basilica was twice enlarged: in 1882, by the addition of side-aisles and in 1886, by the increase of its length by 40 feet. It was this Basilica which was destroyed byfire, in full daylight, on March 29th, 1922.

The Temporary Church (1922-1926)

What follows is better known. It is but recent history or, to be more precise, the facts are not old enough to be a part of history.

This temporary church, erected in haste between the end of March 1922 and the last days of May, was itself destroyed by fire on November 8th, 1926.

The Actual Basilica (1923. . .)

And lastly we come to the present Basilica which has not yet been completed. There remains a crypt hitherto in concrete, some rustic brick vaults, sculptures waiting for an artist, and, particularly does the exterior illustrate this state of incompleteness with two unfinished towers, reaching for heaven in a persistent hope. . .

The friends of Good St. Ann hope that the Tercentenary will bring a new phase in the termination of a building their piety would see completed in a manner deserving of the one they honor there.

In Bathroom

BOSTON — AP — A mother gave birth to a baby boy on Tuesday in the bathroom of her house while her husband and police tried to take the door off the hinges. Mrs. Barbara Guidici, 26, went into the bathroom after calling an ambulance to take her to hospital. Then she fainted, blocking the door as she fell. The mother and baby were doing well.

Presentation To Winners Gander's First Bonspiel

GANDER—The winners of the first Gander Curling Bonspiel were presented with individual ask trays on Thursday evening, February 27 in the Gander Gardens before the commencement of the regular curling session. Mr. Dud Mingo made the presentation on behalf of his company, Eastern Woodworkers, Ltd., to Ike Saunders, skip; Bob Cooke, mate; Maurice Doyle, second stone; and Ralph Andrews, lead stone. Saunders and team took the bonspiel winning four straight games.

A second bonspiel is now in session and should conclude early in March. Invitation games are also planned with Corner Brook and Grand Falls in the near future.

Obituary

DAVID A. COLLINS

David A. Collins, formerly of Placentia, died at Portland, Oregon, Feb. 26th, aged 73 years.

Leaving school he commenced his career as a messenger boy in the old Anglo-Telegraph office at Placentia. After a few years he moved to Canso, Nova Scotia. Returning to Canso after a visit to his home town 52 years ago, the train was blocked with snow on the Topsails for several days. That was his last visit to his homeland.

From Canso he was transferred to the Philippine Islands At San Francisco the steamer on which he had to travel had the sailing date advanced a couple of days. Luck was on his side and with all on that steamer. They were only a little over a day out of Frisco when that great city was destroyed by an earthquake.

As an operator he spent many years in the Philippines and other islands in the Orient. Returning to America, he gave up telegraphy and went to work with the Great Northern Pacific Railroad on the office staff. He married and lived at Seattle for many years. Because of his work, he moved to Portland, Oregon, where he made his home and he was pensioned three years ago.

He is survvied by his widow Gertrude, two sons: Rev. Michael, S.J., Rev. David, S.J.; one daughter Genevieve (married), three sisters: Sr. M. Andrea, St. Patrick's Convent, St. John's, Mrs. May Rhodes, Philadelphia, Mrs. Frank McIsaac, Searston; three brothers: James at Seattle, Raymond at New York and Ernest at Buchans.

Gander's New Ski Run Popular

GANDER—February's heavy snowfall has been a boon to Gander's skiing and tobogganing enthusiasts who had been waiting all winter to use the new 1200 ft. ski run between the Trans Canada highway and the shores of Gander Lake. During the Fall, the Gander Lions Club, working in conjunction with the Town Office officials and the Department of Transport, supervised the clearing of trees and brushwood along the natural slope to the lake. By the end of November, all that was needed to make the skiers dreams come true was the heavy snowfall that never came until last week. Until then, skis and toboggans were kept stored in basements and sheds and with spring just around the corner, it looked like all the elaborate plans had been made in vain.

However, during the past week, the new ski run has been thronged with people, young and old alike, especially on Saturday and Sunday when the school children were taking full advantage of the facilities for outdoor winter sports. In addition to the ski tow, the sliding run has been completed and this has proved to be very popular with the children. One commendable feature of the sliding run is that the children using it are in no danger from motor traffic.

Although the winter season is drawing to an end, the patrons of the new facility hope that old man winter will provide enough snow to keep the run in operation for a few more weeks.
